

Took my music lesson. Took No 17. Funeral March in "Songs without Words" by Mendelssohn & the 7th Etude Czerny's 744. Mr. Reed heard I did very well Thursday Mrs. Camp told him. Went uptown in the afternoon to get premium trading stamps. They stamp ten spaces instead of giving stamps. Went down to Miss Crawford's. Miss McLaren was there. Did not get home until nearly six.

Did not go to church in the morning as it is very rainy and sloppy. Then in the afternoon did not go to Sunday School as it was raining harder still. Papa is reading "In Vents of Kedar." I have been reading the Missionary. There is one very good article on "The Development of Technique from Bach to Liszt." We did not go to church as it was rainy again. I wish we did not have rainy Sundays. I finished "In Vents of Kedar" to-night.
