TONY VAN BRIDGE
AS G.K. CHESTERTON

The Fine Arts Committee will present Tony van Bridge as G.K. Chesterton in Thistle Theatre on January 16 at 8:30 p.m.

One of Canada's most distinguished actors, Tony van Bridge was born, like Chesterton, in London. He began his theatrical career there in 1938, training at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Arts, and performed extensively in England, notably with the famous Old Vic Company, before coming to Canada in 1954.

Since that time he has acted with the Stratford Shakespearean Festival for more than a dozen seasons, has appeared with and directed for the Shaw Festival, with regional theatres across Canada, and also toured in the early days of the Canadian Players.

ALFRED HOFFMAN EXHIBITION

From January 7 to 31 the Brock University Fine Arts Committee will present, as part of its Arts Exhibition series, an exhibit of paintings and watercolors by the noted Toronto artist Alfred Hoffmann.

Alfred Hoffmann was born in Estonia in 1908, and received his early art training in that country. During the second world war he worked as a commercial artist in Sweden, and in 1951 he immigrated to Canada. Since 1967 he has been active primarily as a creative artist, and has achieved a considerable reputation both in this country and in the United States. He is an executive member of the Society of Estonian Artists in Toronto.

The Alfred Hoffmann exhibition can be seen in the Thistle Theatre Lobby Monday through Friday, from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

SLIDING DOWN PARNASSUS

An extract from an address by Dr. John Evans, President of the University of Toronto, to the Canadian Club of Toronto.

"It seems to me that if at this juncture the general public of Ontario really is setting a lower value on its universities and really desires a major cut-back in their development, there are important implications that should be understood.

For universities in Ontario, the decade of the 1960s was a phase of massive growth to meet the Province's priority of providing accessibility to all qualified applicants. That was a worthy priority, though with hindsight we can perceive that university education was oversold as a panacea for all the ills of society, and that physical capacity was overbuilt in some centres. In the 1970s, belt-tightening began in earnest. A capital freeze halted new building and has made it impossible to replace or renovate obsolete facilities. An operating squeeze put us on a reducing diet for 1971 and 1972; by 1973-74 the patient's ribs could be counted, and 1974-75 has brought on real malnutrition: at Toronto, and I am sure the same is true elsewhere, we have had to defer maintenance, reduce equipment and supplies, and cut back on academic staff numbers in relation to students. Simultaneously, research funding available from the federal granting agencies has not kept pace with inflation or growth, and the support of research has suffered accordingly.

The cumulative effect of this compression of funds for several years, plus the recent announcement of a 7.4 per cent increase for 1975-76 which will be inadequate to meet salary and wage increases and a higher cost of materials, adds up to a financial crunch of major proportions. What is at stake in this situation?

The first thing that is at stake is the universities' capacity to adapt to shifts in student interests and choices, and these are striking, even within a total enrolment that is not increasing as rapidly as it did during the preceding decade. To take biology as one example: enrolments at the University of Toronto have gone up, in a four year period, by 122 per cent - an upsurge of interest that is closely related to the next generation's consciousness of those world-ranging problems I mentioned earlier. Do you know how much more we were able to give biology, in those four years, to pay for the extra slides, microscopes, etc. to teach their much-more-than-doubled enrolment? MINUS 15 per cent - which with inflation means minus 30 per cent in purchasing power! And staff has not been increased as much as needed. The pressures are very great, and there is no question that the quality of instruction has suffered to some extent."

CHHAU,
THE MASKED DANCE OF BENGAL

The Fine Arts Committee will present Chhau, The Masked Dance of Bengal in the College of Education Theatre on Tuesday, February 4 at 8:30 p.m.

The ritualistic dance-drama is performed on the occasion of the annual sun festival in West Bengal. The themes are taken from the Ramayana, and the motif in most of these dances is the confrontation between good and evil forces. The movements of the dancers are vigorous and bold. Unlike other Indian dance, it includes acrobatics. The elaborate costumes glitter, the fantastic headdresses tremble as the dancers spin and turn. All performers are masked except the drummers who urge the dancers on to greater feats of virtuosity. The masks are large and dramatic (some have 10 heads) and are made only in one village in the district of Purulia. The maskmakers have learned their trade through knowledge transmitted from generation to generation.

On their only tour out of India in 1972, a London critic wrote, "The message of the dancers is clear, since the performers present their dramatic scenes with a noble simplicity that is exemplified in the expressive masks and headdresses as well as in the dignity or malevolence of their poses: Krishna appears, blue-faced and exquisite: a war-god rides a peacock and spreads a lustrous train of feathers, an evil demon appears, black-faced and hung about with death-heads. It is an art unspoiled, rich, potent, beautiful, and well worth seeing".

This appearance of Chhau, The Masked Dance of Bengal is their North American premier. Reserve seats are available at the Thistle Theatre Box Office, 684-7541.

STUDY SKILLS WORKSHOP

The Counselling Centre is offering a series of three Study Skills Workshops for students wishing to improve their academic performance. The workshops will involve both information on effective study techniques and experiential exercises to evaluate present skills and practice new ones. Individual assistance will be available if desired to help participants with particular problems. Some of the topics covered include time management, behavior modification, reading and notetaking skills, writing essays and preparing for exams. The workshops are on Tuesdays, February 4, 11 and 18 from 1:00 - 3:00 p.m. The deadline for applications is Monday, January 27. Professors are requested to mention this program to their students. For further information please contact, Karen Zanutto, Counselling Centre.

SUPER MAX HAS ARRIVED

Santa Claus visited the Chemistry Department shortly before Christmas, and in his jet-powered sleigh, straight from a pick-up in Germany, was a present big enough (1 1/2 tons) to fill Jack Miller's Christmas stocking several times over. "Max", the Bruker NMR spectrometer, subject of many a pleading letter to the North Pole (and to any other Wish-Granting agency you could name), had finally arrived. "Max" is somewhat of an international hybrid, being manufactured by Bruker in Germany, France and Switzerland, while the built-in computer is American, and various other components of the system are from other countries such as Holland.

What does Max do? Well, as his full name, the Bruker WP-60 Fourier Transform Nuclear Magnetic Resonance Spectrometer, implies, Max has an eye for nuclei; is able to tell how many, and just where they are in a molecule. Not all nuclei, mind you; the earlier models of his ilk (including our almost defunct A-60 NMR, a 12 year old geriatric case) were able to detect only hydrogen (^1_1H). Max is one of a new wave of these instruments which are "multinuclear" in capability and can also detect carbon ($^{13}_6\text{C}$), fluorine ($^{19}_9\text{F}$) and phosphorus ($^{31}_{15}\text{P}$).

The new instrument which will be used for undergraduate and graduate teaching and research, was purchased with funds from the university, NRC research grants, a Shell Oil Company grant and departmental contract research funds.

STAN BRAKHAGE, FILM-MAKER

Stan Brakhage, perhaps the leading figure in the Underground film movement in America, will discuss his films at a free showing on Monday, January 20 at 3:00 and 7:00 p.m. in Room 324 of the College of Education.

Mr. Brakhage was born in Kansas City in 1933. He began his enormous output of experimental films in the early 1950's. Underground film historian Sheldon Renan calls Brakhage "the major transitional figure in the turning away of 'experimental' film from literature and surrealist psychodrama and in its subsequent move towards the more purely personal and visual".

Brakhage's major works include Dog Star Man (1961-64) and The Art of Vision (1961-65, 4 1/2 hours long). He is the author of a distinctive book of film criticism and a frequent lecturer and resident film-maker in American universities.

There will be a program of early Brakhage films at 3:00 p.m. and as a part of the evening presentation at 7:00 p.m. Brakhage's latest film, The Text of Light, will be shown.

FINAL REMINDER

Persons wishing to participate in the educational tour to Rome, Tivoli, Pompeii, etc. sponsored by the Classics Department in conjunction with the Upper Canada Study Society are asked to contact Professor S. A. Alleyne or the secretary of the Classics Department as soon as possible.

The price of the trip is $459 and the dates are from March 19 to 29, 1975.

LIBRARY ACQUISITION

BROCK UNIVERSITY
WOMEN'S SOCIETY

Pollution Probe of St. Catharines has donated a variety of environmental literature to the Brock University Library. Linda Anderson, Documents Librarian, is presently cataloguing the material. This literature was selected from Pollution Probe's library as appropriate for use by university students working on related projects.

Since the first Dinner-Dance was such an unqualified success last year, a second is scheduled for Friday, February 7 at the Casa del Toro in Welland.

Educational material of a more general nature will be distributed through the Public Library System. PROBE has donated its newspaper archives to that library. As well, a collection of environmental brochures was presented to the local office of the Ministry of the Environment.

Highlights of the evening will be the Casa's outstanding buffet dinner and the danceable music of The Variations.

Tickets can be purchased from Margot Adams-Webber (682-7844) or from the secretary, Department of Germanic and Slavic Studies, ext. 374.

BOOK EXCHANGE

The Scarlet Sabre Society has established a co-operative paperback book exchange which will commence operations on Monday, January 20 in the former Student Union Office, room 110 of the Tower. The book exchange will be open from 2:00 - 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

ADOLESCENCE

The London Life Insurance Company is sponsoring a special CTV network telecast entitled "Adolescence" on Sunday, January 26 at 10:00 p.m.

Books traded are on a one for one basis with no cash transactions. Donations are welcome. For further information contact D. Stinson at the Student Union Office or W. Glenn in room 110 of the Tower during book exchange hours.

This presentation is part of the award-winning CTV Human Journey Show on adolescence. Following last season's original telecast, the Montreal Star described "Adolescence" as "the best so far of the excellent Human Journey shows". A booklet by the same name was published from the extensive research required for this program. A copy can be obtained by writing to Mr. J. B. Chick, Communications Services Executive, London Life Insurance Company, 225 Dufferin Avenue, London, Ontario, N6A 4K1.

OUTSTANDING PIANIST AT BROCK

Valerie Tryon, the distinguished British pianist, will present the next Lunch Hour Concert recital in Thistle Theatre on Tuesday, January 28 at 12:00 noon. Miss Tryon is internationally known as a broadcasting concert and recording artist and will present a program of varied interest including Haydn's Sonata in E flat major, Schumann's Carnival Op. 9, Ronald Tremain's Prelude, Aria and Variations and Liszt's Hungarian Rhapsody No. 12.

The Prelude, Aria and Variations will be receiving its first performance in Canada. The composer writes: "This is a 12-note work of about 10 minutes in duration. The first movement is a dance-like piece in two part chromatic counterpoint; the second movement a melody which is broken and interrupted by pointillistic textures; and the third movement is a chain of variations on chord progressions."

BOOK EXCHANGE

The Scarlet Sabre Society has established a co-operative paperback book exchange which will commence operations on Monday, January 20 in the former Student Union Office, room 110 of the Tower. The book exchange will be open from 2:00 - 6:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Books traded are on a one for one basis with no cash transactions. Donations are welcome. For further information contact D. Stinson at the Student Union Office or W. Glenn in room 110 of the Tower during book exchange hours.

RECYCLING

The success of our bond paper recycling project is no longer in doubt. Since March of 1973, the Brock community has salvaged 80,300 pounds of paper for a total re-sale value of $2,490; 41,710 pounds of which were collected in 1974.

Thanks to the efforts of the community this project has moved out of the experimental stage and will be with us for quite some time.

FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Geography

Dr. J. N. Jackson recently lectured at Madoc to about 150 students from the district's schools on "The Canadian City: The Challenge of Growth and Change". A second lecture was given to elected and professional members of the local councils and planning boards at Belleville on "Urban and Regional Planning: Heresy or Necessity?".

SHORTS

A symposium marking the 500th anniversary of the birth of Michelangelo is planned for March 6 to 8 at McMaster University.

The Canadian Association of University Teachers has "temporarily suspended" the blacklisting of Simon Fraser University which it had maintained since a dispute over faculty firing procedures in 1971. The CAUT's moral "censure" of SFU remains in effect. The affair is to be reviewed by the CAUT board in March.

A new plan is underway to promote Canadian university involvement in research development in the developing countries. Sponsored jointly by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada and the Canadian International Development Agency, it's scheduled to get underway later this year.

The University of Alberta has a weekly half-hour television program on Edmonton station CITV. The station pays for production costs of the show; the university budgets $85,000 for the four-member staff which puts the program together.

Next month Trent University will start charging interest - 1 1/2% per month - on overdue accounts, including overdue tuition fees. Students whose payments are delayed because of bursary or OSAP troubles or genuine financial difficulty will not be charged, however.

DESIGN COMPETITION

CIRCUS 1976, Ontario's Celebration in honor of the Olympics, is a ten week festival of arts and sports events occurring in communities and regions throughout the province. The essence of the CIRCUS 1976 idea is to demonstrate that sports and arts interact within our culture to create one cultural whole.

A logo and logo type (reading "CIRCUS 1976") are needed to visually identify the CIRCUS concept. The design should be capable of resizing without loss of impact and clarity and be suitable for such applications as letterhead, posters, folders, programs, decals and vehicle identification. The logo design must be self-explanatory and permit the simultaneous use of the logo type "CIRCUS 1976". The closing date for submissions is February 14, 1975.

Further information and applications forms are available from the Information & Liaison Office, room 1022 of the Tower.

QUEBEC WINTER CARNIVAL

If you're interested in attending the Quebec Winter Carnival, act now. The final meeting of participants will be held in Thistle 241 at 12:00 noon on Tuesday, January 28. The cost of the trip is $50.00. Additional information is available from the BUSU office at extension 430

DIRECTORY ASSISTANCE

On February 9 Bell Canada will be introducing their Directory Assistance Charging System for telephone numbers listed in our local directory. Directory assistance calls placed on the university's direct Toronto line will also be chargeable. However, long distance assistance calls placed on Brock's local lines will be free of charge. A note to this effect on the inside cover of your local directory could result in an appreciable saving to the university.

As an added feature for those who would rather 'do it themselves', the following directories are available in the Reference Department of the Library.

ENERGY FOR A THOUSAND YEARS

The Chancellor's Lectures for 1975 will be given by Dr. A. J. Mooradian, F.R.S. (C), Vice-President of Atomic Energy of Canada and Director of the Chalk River Nuclear Laboratories, on two successive evenings, Thursday, February 13 and Friday, February 14.

Dr. Mooradian's subject will be "Energy for a Thousand Years: A World Perspective and a Canadian Focus". The lectures will be given in room 324 of the College of Education at 8:00 p.m. each evening. Staff, students and members of the public are invited but, as seating is limited, tickets will be required. These may be obtained by telephoning Mrs. Durocher at extension 255.

THE CORSICAN BROTHERS

The Drama Department's first year students are presently in rehearsal for their major production of the year, The Corsican Brothers, which will be presented on February 12, 13 and 14 in Thistle Theatre.

The Corsican Brothers by John Bowen, is a contemporary adaptation of the novel by Alexander Dumas. This play retains much of the flavor of the eighteenth century - abounding with extravagant costumes, ballroom dancing, fencing, and the touch of melodrama necessary to carry the intensity of the story line. The production is directed by Des Davis, designed by Warren Hartman and Donald Acaster, with musical direction by Mary Kathryn Newman.

The entire production including all sets, costumes, properties and lighting is being prepared by the students in the first year class.

NEW MCU COMMITTEE

The Honorable James A.C. Auld, Minister of Colleges and Universities, has announced the creation of a new committee to advise him on financial assistance for students.

The ten-member committee, to be known as the Interim Committee on Financial Assistance for Students, will make recommendations on the nature of future student assistance programs, the best way of administering the programs, and the best way of providing independent advice to the Minister about student assistance.

The committee will develop its recommendations in consultation with the Ontario Council of Regents and the Ontario Council on University Affairs (OCUA), the bodies which advise the Minister on matters affecting colleges of applied arts and technology and universities respectively.

SHORTS

The Fine Arts Committee will present Chhau, The Masked Dance of Bengal in the College of Education Theatre on Tuesday, February 4 at 8:30 p.m. in its North American premier. Reserve tickets are available at the Thistle Theatre Box Office, 684-7541.

The OSSTF is sponsoring a study of the role of secondary schools in the province. An educational forum is to be held in St. Catharines on Monday, February 17 at 8:00 p.m. at Lakeport Secondary School. Registration forms and programs may be obtained from the Information and Liaison Office, room 1022T.

On January 22, Professors Frankel, Hollosi and Reial accompanied a department-sponsored excursion to the St. Lawrence Centre in Toronto to see the Toronto Arts Productions' presentation of Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's play Article 58. The performance was attended by students and faculty from all sectors of the university.

The Shaw Festival recently announced that Donald Acaster has been named resident lighting designer for the Festival Theatre's 1975 season. The announcement described Mr. Acaster as "well known for his lighting of productions at St. Lawrence Centre (Trelawny of the "Wells"), and of operas for the Canadian Opera Company and the National Arts Centre, Mr. Acaster returns to the Festival for his tenth season with a list of more than 30 past credits, including Too True To Be Good and Heartbreak House".

Sessional lecturers at Carleton University have formed an association whose aim is to plan for a certified bargaining unit representing part-time teaching staff at Carleton.

A new suggestion for solving the universities' financial problems came in a letter from a New Liskeard man in the January 8 Globe and Mail: "If the federal Government must be involved, why not a system like that adopted by the Ministry of Agriculture, where the Government pays farmers not to plant wheat or rapeseed or tobacco? Let them pay the universities not to "educate" so many of our youth. Then they would be free to take honest employment as horse traders or hockey players."

"It is high time the scholars of our country take over scholarly publication", says Dr. Norman Wagner, dean of graduate studies at Wilfrid Laurier University. He told a government committee that as the prices of scholarly books increase, young scholars can't afford to build personal libraries and publishers are less and less interested in specialized books with small press runs. He said the recently-established Wilfrid Laurier University Press is one example of a solution to the problem, and he called for a Canadian Scholars' Press sponsored by this country's learned societies.

FASHION SHOW

The Women's Committee of the St. Catharines Symphony Orchestra will sponsor a Fashion Show by Winston's on Wednesday, February 19 at 8:30 p.m. in the Pond Inlet Refectory. FROM A REPORT TO
THE YORK SENATE

President M. I. Macdonald, who was formerly Deputy Provincial Treasurer, outlined the financial prospects for the Ontario universities at a meeting on January 23.

"I suggested at the outset of these discussions that Government policy was not a fiscal aberration, an oversight, or a temporary phenomenon. In my opinion, we would find the financial situation becoming more severe rather than easier because retrenchment of the university sphere seems to be a specific objective of Government policy. On December 17, a representative group of six Chairmen of Boards of Governors of Ontario Universities met at length with the Premier and Minister of Colleges and Universities. Each of them reported independently an identical impression: in the view of the Government, productivity must increase radically, unnecessary duplication must be eliminated, and the basic style of university life must be transformed...."

FASHION SHOW

The Women's Committee of the St. Catharines Symphony Orchestra will sponsor a Fashion Show by Winston's on Wednesday, February 19 at 8:30 p.m. in the Pond Inlet Refectory. FEBRUARY 21ST HOLIDAY

The President has approved the observance of a holiday during the mid-term recess on Friday, February 21, 1975. With the exception of those departments that have made commitments for this date and those that are required to maintain essential services, the University will be closed. Employees who are required to work will not receive the usual double time payment but should be granted another mutually convenient day off.

THE ANNA WYMAN DANCE THEATRE AT BROCK

Canada's fastest growing contemporary dance company, The Anna Wyman Dance Theatre began their first cross-Canada tour last week. This extensive seven week tour, running from February 3 to March 22, 1975, will take the company from Calgary, Alberta across eight provinces to Halifax, Nova Scotia. They will present over thirty-five performances to an estimated total audience of more than 30,000. This tour has been made possible through the co-ordination and financial assistance of the Touring Office of the Canada Council. As part of this tour, they will perform at Thistle Theatre on February 27.

Described by Christopher Dafoe of the Vancouver Sun as "A tightly knit, technically impressive company with a distinctive style", The Anna Wyman Dance Theatre will be presenting works from their repertoire as well as the premiere of two new works, choreographed by the company's artistic director and founder, Anna Wyman. Its repertoire ranges from light comic pieces to serious dramatic works.

Based in Greater Vancouver, The Anna Wyman Dance Theatre is considered by many to be the foremost professional contemporary dance company in Canada. In existence for only four years, the company has established a high artistic standard and its artistic excellence is evident in the reviews it has received.

The Anna Wyman Dance Theatre will perform at Thistle Theatre on February 27 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available from the Box Office at 684-7541.

SHUTTLE BUS

During the mid-term recess, February 17 to 21, a modified shuttle service will be in effect between the Glenridge and DeCew campuses using the city bus service only.

This will mean that from approximately 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., the shuttle service will run half-hourly rather than the usual ten minute intervals.

BROCK GRAND PRIX

MICHELANGELO

A challenging course covering approximately 200 miles throughout the Niagara region has been laid out by the Residence Action Committee for the first annual Brock University Car Rally on Saturday, March 1.

Cars do not compete according to classes. The contest will be based upon covering a prescribed number of miles along a given route in a set length of time. The prizes are: first place $75, second $50, and third $25.

The registration fee for the rally, which is open to students, staff, faculty, alumni, and their families is $5.00 per car. Registration will take place on February 25 from 11:00 am to 5:00 pm in room 1401 in Residence.

The rally will be followed by an informal dance in the Physical Education Complex at 8:00 pm. Admission to the dance is free to participants in the rally, and 50¢ for all others.

For further information, contact Clive Card at 688-5720.

The exhibition, which is on loan from the Art Gallery of Ontario, consists of fifty facsimile reproductions showing Michelangelo's artistic development.

The great Renaissance artist was born 500 years ago, this coming March 6. The Library will, at that time, also present a book display featuring Michelangelo.

A tally of the number of inquiries handled by the front counter of the Registrar's Office for the calendar year 1975 records 24,058 callers. "That will be conservative", says Prof. Coggins; "when we are very busy the tallying can be forgotten." Lightest month was December with just over 1,000 callers; peak was September with 4,100. Compilation of the tally has been part of a study of the workload pattern of the office.

Two publications of the Association of Commonwealth Universities have been received in the Registrar's Office: The Commonwealth Universities Year Book and A Handbook for Students from Overseas and their Advisers. Copies are available in both the Registrar's Office and the Library.

They're called the Mitchell Prizes, and range up to $10,000. The address for information is Limits to Growth 75, 5645 South Woodlawn Avenue, Chicago 60637. Application deadline is February 28.

The pension fund at Queen's University lost $3 million, or about 15 per cent of its value, as the result of a falling investment market in 1974.

The University of Manitoba is adopting a system of "challenging for credit" in which a student who can demonstrate his or her knowledge in a subject can be given credit for a course without taking classes. The system won't go into effect until a committee can work out an acceptable way of recording grades for a student who gets credit for a course in this way.

NO BIG BONANZA

The following report, the source of which has not been acknowledged, appeared in Tuesday's Toronto Star and was also carried by Canadian Press.

"Increases in operating grants to universities ranging from about 12 to 26 per cent have been approved by James Auld, colleges and universities minister, a ministry source said yesterday.

The increases are expected to go before the cabinet for approval tomorrow.

They gave the University of Toronto a 14 per cent increase for the 1975-76 academic year, York University, 14.9 per cent and Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, 23.6 per cent.

Carleton University is to get a 14.9 per cent increase, Guelph University 19.7 per cent, Lakehead University, 19.4 per cent, Laurentian University, 26.3 per cent, McMaster University, 18.6 per cent, the University of Ottawa, 14.5 per cent, Queen's University, 14.8 per cent, Trent, 17.4 per cent, Waterloo, 12.1 per cent, the University of Western Ontario, 16.4 per cent, Wilfrid Laurier, 12.9 per cent, Windsor, 18.2 per cent.

Auld told the Legislature last November that Ontario's 15 tax-supported universities would receive $568 million next year, an increase of 16.9 per cent."

It can be assumed that the omission of Brock University from this list was accidental. The President reports that internal calculations would suggest that the corresponding figure for Brock would be of the order of 20% and would include a compensatory grant of slightly less than the $500,000 which had been requested. The 20% figure is inclusive of the College of Education; for the rest of the University the figure would be somewhat less than 17%.

While the story seems to imply an increase in the level of funding, a closer examination suggests that it is based on the 7.4% increase in the Basic Income Unit, plus whatever growth has occurred in the individual universities, plus compensatory grants where applicable. All of this would be contained within the global sum of $568 million which was announced by the Minister in November.

Moreover, the percentage figures listed above have been calculated on the basis of the grant portion of the B.I.U. only, exclusive of formula fees, so total revenues will not increase by these amounts.

We would emphasize that the newspaper report was unofficial and unauthorized. The President expects to receive official news by the end of the week.

ANNA WYMAN DANCE THEATRE

Anna Wyman, director of the Anna Wyman Dance Theatre, and Ann Mortifee, songwriter, have been awarded a grant of $25,000 by the Canada Council for a work commissioned by the Vancouver Art Gallery. The composition, based on the lyrics of Western Canadian poet Emily Carr, will be premiered by the Anna Wyman Dance Theatre at the Vancouver Art Gallery in July of this year as part of Canada's celebration of International Women's Year.

The Anna Wyman Dance Theatre will appear at Thistle Theatre on Thursday, February 27 at 8:30 p.m.

SPECIAL BAROQUE MUSIC CONCERT

The next Lunch Hour Concert will feature a program of Baroque Music by Couperin, Marais, Bach and Rameau. Performers are Peggie Sampson, viola de gamba; Cristel Thielman, viola da gamba; Deryck Aird, violin; Michael Purves-Smith, harpsichord.

Listeners to last Sunday's BBC concert on CBL FM will have heard Peggy Sampson accompanied by harpsichordist George Malcolm in concert at last year's Aldeburgh Festival.

The concert is scheduled for Tuesday, February 25 at 12:00 noon in Thistle Theatre.

BOOK STORE

Paperback and hardcover books will be on sale in the lower level of the Book Store from February 20 to March 7.

FACULTY URGED TO CONTRIBUTE TO ACTION CONFERENCE

A province-wide conference to discuss post-secondary educational cutbacks is being organized at Brock for March 7-9 by the Steering Committee on Post-Secondary Financing. Workshops will cover such topics as "the university and the community", "the politics of post-secondary education", and "financing post-secondary institutions".

The committee extends an invitation to everyone at Brock as well as to individuals in the community to participate.

Each university in Ontario will be sending participants. Many of these visitors will have to be billeted. If you can take a billet, please contact Faith Hoover at 688-3672.

A fund has been established to assist the out-of-town students with transportation and food expenses. The committee will be approaching faculty for donations. Contributions to the fund are welcome.

For further information, or to contribute contact Michael D'Souza at extension 431 or 684-1775.

BOOK SALE

The St. Catharines Public Library and the St. Catharines Symphony Women's Committee are sponsoring a book sale to be held from Thursday, March 6 through Saturday, March 8 at 36 Queen Street (formerly Salamander Shoes).

The hours are from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Thursday, March 6; from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m., Friday, March 7; and from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Saturday, March 8.

ANOTHER GAMBLE

Physical fitness, sports, recreation and cultural programs in Ontario will share the proceeds of a provincial lottery which will be established this year.

A lottery corporation with control over the price of tickets, sales arrangements, size of the prizes and frequency of the draws, will be established as a Crown agency to run the lottery.

It is expected that sales could reach $100 million within the next couple of years. Of that total, $40 to $50 million could be made available for physical fitness, sports, recreation and cultural programs after the return of approximately 40% in prizes and 20% for payment of operational costs and sales commissions.

SHORTS

On Wednesday, February 26, Bernard Gelbaum, Professor of Mathematics and Vice-President of Academic Affairs at SUNY at Buffalo, will be the guest of the Mathematics Department. He will present a lecture on "Counterexamples in Analysis" at 11:00 a.m. in room 310 of the Tower, and a public lecture on "Logic, Linguistics, Decidability and Computers", at 3:00 p.m. in room 242Thistle. The latter should be of interest to students and faculty in philosophy, languages and computer science as well as mathematics; and Professor Gelbaum emphasizes that no university-level mathematical background is required to understand it.

Tickets are still available for the Wine, Cheese and Hors d'oeuvre Party for faculty and staff being held in the Faculty Club on Friday, February 28 at 9:00 p.m.

Tickets at $2.00 per person ($2.50 at the door) may be purchased from J. Black (Physics), V. Bubovich (Book Store), V. Cicci (College of Education), J. Edds (Administration), D. Geary (Physical Education), S. Hartman (Chemistry), B. Liberty (Geology), J. Meeker (Continuing Education), E. Sleep (Library), and V. Tomovich (Sociology).

Registration for the first annual Brock University Car Rally will be held on Tuesday, February 25 from 11:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. in room 1401 in Residence. The registration fee is $5.00 per car.

The January 1975 issue of Orchestra Canada featured an article on Professor Tremain and his new work "Seven Medieval Lyrics".

On February 15, Mr. W. Parkins and Prof. J. Terasmae attended the Archaeological Symposium Workshop at McMaster University where Mr. Parkins presented a paper on the topic of application of geological methods in determination of sources of chert used by early Indian peoples in the Niagara Peninsula. The workshop was attended by more than 100 Ontario archaeologists and covered current archaeological research in Ontario and the Canadian Shield region, including the Northwest Territories.

Dr. J. N. Jackson recently lectured in the Urban Studies Program at York University on British New Towns and their relevance to the Ontario urban growth situation.

Things are tough all over. The University of California, which thought its troubles might be over when Ronald Reagan left office, has just had its budget request slashed by $45.8 million, to $543.4 million.

Remember that contest at Carleton University for the best suggestion on how to improve the university? The winner, a third-year arts student, will be off to the Bahamas during winter break as the result of a suggestion that Carleton dress up its extensive tunnel system with bright paint and benches.

A task force has been set up by the education ministers of Canada's ten provinces to look into the future financing of post-secondary education. The present agreement, under which the federal government pays some 50% of college and university costs run up by the provinces, expires at the end of 1977.

Dr. Allan Best of the University of British Columbia has started a stop-smoking clinic which works by "saturation smoking" - customers at the free clinic will be made to smoke so much they won't be able to face the idea of another cigarette. Dr. Best began his work in this area as a graduate student in psychology at the University of Waterloo, where he devised a machine that let a smoker inhale fumes from a whole pack of cigarettes at one time. Explaining his technique, he said smokers shouldn't try to use it on themselves without professional guidance.

As a result of its budget trouble, Algonquin College in Ottawa is contemplating laying off 140 employees and putting an embargo on students entering most of its programs next fall. New students will be accepted only in nursing and dental courses, French-language programs, one-year programs, and the break-even "continuing education" (night hobby and professional) courses. Algonquin is a community college whose twelve campuses are centred in Ottawa.

Many private colleges in the United States are in financial trouble, and one of them - Our Lady of the Lake College in San Antonio, Texas - is trying an unusual money-raising scheme: through a private mint, they're issuing a silver "coin" or medal, which contains more than an ounce of silver, shows a picture of the campus chapel and a map of Texas, and sells to numismatists and other enthusiasts for $25.

DEANS IN HUMANITIES AND SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Senate and the Board of Trustees have given approval in principle to the President's recommendations in respect of academic administrative structure, as contained in his December 1974 report. These envisage leaving the post of Provost and Vice-President in abeyance and having a Dean in each of the three areas of Humanities, Social Sciences and Mathematics and Science.

Dr. Plint will serve as Dean of Science for the year 1975/76.

The President has appointed the following to serve as an Advisory Committee on the appointment of Deans in Humanities and Social Sciences: Professors D. J. Goodspeed, History (Chairman); M. J. Miller, Drama; G. E. Dirks, Politics, L. A. Soroka, Economics; Mr. N. Robertson, Student Senator; with Mr. R. A. Nairn, Secretary to the University as secretary.

Suggestions, nominations or applications for either of the two positions should be submitted to the secretary by March 6.

JOY BLECH IN CONCERT

The Lunch Hour Concert scheduled for 12:00 noon, Tuesday, March 4, will feature Joy Blech, pianist. Her program will include pieces from Mozart, Janacek, Peter Racine Fricker, Chopin and Debussy.

In 1968 Joy Blech undertook a British Council tour, giving recitals in Rome, Naples and Bologna, and in the same year gave her London concerto debut at the Fairfield Halls.

Amongst her more unusual concert appearances have been performances with actor Sebastian Shaw in concerts of "Melo-Drama" in which they have given Richard Strauss' setting of "Enoch Arden", "Childe Roland to the Dark Tower Came" with music by Richard Rodney Bennett and Sebastian Shaw's own set of humorous poems "London Sketches" with music by Donald Swan. Her solo repertoire is extensive and consists of classical and romantic as well as some modern composers. Amongst the latter was a first broadcast performance of Wilfred Joseph's 14 Studies for Piano.

MURDER IN THE CATHEDRAL

The Glendon College Dramatic Arts Program will present "Murder in the Cathedral" by T. S. Eliot in the College of Education Theatre on Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7 at 8:30 p.m.

"Murder in the Cathedral" is at once a great poem and a great play - a literary work of superb merit and a theatrical piece whose universal dramatic appeal is attested by its continuing success on all kinds of stages, and in the allied arts of radio, television, film and opera.

The Glendon College production of "Murder in the Cathedral", is directed by Michael Gregory, with set design by David Weatherstone and costume design by Caroline Gregory. Tickets at $1.50 for students and $2.50 for others are available at the Box Office.

Photo Tech is mounting an exhibition of photographs by Brock faculty, staff and students, to be on display in the Exhibition Hall, room AS302, from February 28 to March 7.

Photographs on the theme of Brock University will be judged in a contest being held concurrently with this exhibition. However, photographs on other subjects are eligible for the exhibition alone.

Please forward any submissions for the exhibition and the contest to Mike Wilder in the Press Office by the end of the week.

THE BACCHAE

The Classics Club with the assistance of the Drama Department will present Euripides' "The Bacchae" in Thistle Theatre on Saturday, March 8 at 8:00 p.m. The production is directed by Janet Dolman and designed by Warren Hartman.

"The Bacchae", Euripides' strange, laughing tragedy, is universally acclaimed as a great masterpiece. There is complete unity of plot. The poetry is beautiful. The choral odes are clearly relevant. Yet the play has been interpreted by some as an attack on the Olympian religion, and by others as the recantation of an aging atheist.

The story is of a type well known in Greek legend: a triumph of Dionysus, god of wine and ecstasy, over those who refuse to permit the observance of his worship.

"The Bacchae" will be presented in Thistle Theatre on March 8 at 8:00 p.m. Tickets at $1.00 for students and $2.00 for others are available at the Box Office.

MAIL CALL

Regarding the present mail situation, the St. Catharines Post Office advises that mail is being processed and received from all destinations with the exception of mail destined for and originating from Toronto and Scarborough.

This temporary arrangement will continue on a day-to-day basis.

TELEPHONE TOPICS

The university has acquired and installed modern switchboard equipment and its operation differs slightly from the retired model. When transferring an incoming call, the receiver button is to be depressed only once. This will activate a continuous flashing signal at the switchboard and the operator will intercept and transfer the call. If the button is depressed more than once, the caller may be disconnected.

As directory assistance charging is now in effect, you are reminded to consult your directory. Numerous directories are available for consultation in the Reference Department of the library. Copies of the Toronto directory are available at the Switchboard. Directory assistance calls for the metropolitan Toronto area are not to be placed on the Toronto line as the university will be levied a local assistance charge for such calls. Should directory assistance for the Toronto area be necessary, dial 9-1-555-1212 for charge-free service.

ALUMNI/VARSITY HOCKEY GAME

Alumni will be back at Brock for the annual alumni athletic day on Saturday, March 1.

The varsity hockey team has challenged the alumni to a game at the Garden City Arena at 4:00 p.m. During the last alumni/varsity game, the alumni outscored the varsity team 9-7 in a close game that went into overtime play. The varsity team are going to try to regain their winner status against the alumni in what promises to be another good game.

In the evening there will be a social gathering for the alumni in the College of Education Cafeteria, starting at 8:00 p.m. Faculty, staff and students are welcome to join the alumni. There is no admission charge for the hockey game or the social.

The Brock Student Forum will present Mr. Lewis Perinbam, Vice-President of Special Programs for the Canadian International Development Association on Tuesday, March 4 at 2:00 p.m. in room 242Th. His topic is "The Development Challenge".

Department secretaries are requested to send surplus stocks of interdepartmental envelopes to the mailroom, as their supply is becoming depleted.

At last Monday night's faculty and staff hockey game, Peter Barclay of Geology scored the first hat trick of his career.

Faculty at Carleton University last week voted 292-44 in favor of changing the faculty association constitution to allow the group to become a certified labor union. Association president Dr. Jill Vickers said the next step is getting faculty to sign membership cards for union certification.

Nominations are due by February 28 for the 1975 Royal Bank Award - a $50,000 prize and a gold medal for a Canadian "whose outstanding achievements contributed to human welfare and the common good". Last year's winner, the eighth, was Jean Gascon of the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. Address of the Selection Committee is Box 1102, Montreal H3C 2X9.

The provincial government says it's going to set up an advisory committee on science policy, which will consist of about half a dozen senior civil servants and will call in outsiders when it needs specialized advice.

FROM THE DEPARTMENTS

Classics

On Saturday, February 22, Prof. Noel Robertson took part in a colloquium at McMaster University on "The History of Greece in the 5th Century B.C.: The Nature of the Evidence". Speakers were Mary White of Trinity College, Toronto, on the early 5th century, Edward Bloedow of the University of Ottawa, on the late 5th century, and Noel Robertson, whose paper "The Myth Makers of the 4th Century" examined the remoulding of the historical tradition concerning the Persian Wars by 4th century educators and publicists, and advanced the thesis that much of the 5th century belongs to legend rather than to history. Both this thesis and the other contributions provoked a good deal of discussion. It appears that the accumulation of new evidence (especially inscriptions, coins and architectural remains), and more critical approaches to our traditional sources of information, have abolished almost every point of agreement that once existed; and that our knowledge of this formative period of the western world is still alarmingly unsure.

College of Education

Prof. Henry Friesen of the Department of Curriculum Studies was a delegate to the Annual Convention of the Alberta Teachers' Association, February 12-14 in Edmonton, where he presented a paper on Humane-ism in Education.

Germanic & Slavic Studies

On February 18, the department hosted the Regional High School

German Contest. Sixty-four high school students participated in an oral and written examination under the direction of Professors Don MacRae and John Michielsen. This was followed by lunch and a rousing sing-song of German Studenten lieder.

Geology

Mr. R. Thomas attended the Northeastern North America Branch of the International Glaciological Society conference at CRREL, Hanover, New Hampshire on February 14 and 15. The papers that were presented ranged from "Theological Consideration of Ice Movement" to "Recent Greenland Strain and Flow Measurements".

The Symposium on Glacial Till, an inter-disciplinary conference held in Ottawa on February 17 and 18, was attended by Mr. R. Thomas, Prof. J. A. C. Fortescue and three graduate students. Papers were presented concerning the geological, pedological and geotechnical aspects of tills. One paper on drift prospecting was presented by D. Alley, a graduate of Brock. During the social events of the conference many other graduates from Brock were encountered. They are presently employed in geology from New Brunswick to Saskatchewan.

PROVINCIAL FUNDING

After the Minister's announcement this week, the President send the following letter to members of faculty and department heads.

"The announcement last week of the level of funding for 1975/76 contained no surprises. In addition to a 7.8% increase in the Basic Income Unit, Brock will have a supplementary grant of $470,000, as opposed to the $500,000 we had indicated to be the minimum required.

The increase in the value of the B.I.U., combined with this compensatory grant and the increase in the number of B.I.U.'s will generate an estimated revenue of $10,492,062 (exclusive of the College of Education), an increase of 13.57% over last year's figure.

The announcement which appeared earlier in the press seems to have been calculated to make the increase appear more substantial than is in fact the case. Thus, Brock was described as receiving an increase of 20.4%. The latter figure was calculated on the basis of the total Basic Income Units, including those which the College of Education would generate were it not on a line budget, and excluding formula fees which account for some 20% of the university's income.

It will be appreciated that a 13.57% increase in revenue is hardly sufficient to meet the first of the goals announced by the Minister in November, let alone all three, when he said, 'We believe this sum is sufficient to offset inflationary trends, to maintain or improve existing levels of service and to accommodate predicted enrolment increases.' The Ontario Council on University Affairs had in fact recommended that the government provide an additional $16.2 million to the system, but this recommendation was rejected.

We shall obviously be hard pressed to live within our income in the coming year but must do our best to avoid any deficit which will only exacerbate the position for 1976/77."

A summary of the O.C.U.A. report is appended to this issue of CAMPUS NEWS.

CONFERENCE
ON POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION

Billets are urgently needed for out-of-town participants in the conference to discuss post-secondary educational cutbacks being organized for March 7-9 by the Steering Committee on Post-Secondary Financing. During the conference workshops will cover such topics as "the university and the community", "the politics of post-secondary education", and "financing post-secondary institutions".

Invitations to participate in the conference have been extended to students, faculty, and staff from all the universities in Ontario and from many community colleges. Attendance is expected to be substantial, with approximately 500 people coming from outside the city. If you are able to billet any out-of-town participants, please contact Faith Hoover at 688-3672.

A fund has been established to assist the out-of-town students with transportation and food expenses. The Steering Committee is seeking financial assistance and contributions of up to $20 from faculty and staff would be welcome. Cheques should be made payable to the Ontario Student Action Conference and mailed to OSAC, c/o Grant Wedge, BUSAC Office.

MINISTER ANNOUNCES OPERATING GRANTS

On February 24, the Honourable James A. C. Auld, Minister of Colleges and Universities, announced operating grants to the Ontario universities for the 1975-76 fiscal year beginning May 1. The announcement differed from those of recent years in two significant respects. First, the Minister's announcement followed upon a November 18 statement on the total sum allocated by government for the universities. In the interim, the Ontario Council on University Affairs had been asked to advise on whether there should be a radical change to the existing enrolment-based formula for distribution.

The second notable change in practice was the release of the full texts of memoranda in which the Ontario Council on University Affairs had tendered its advice to government. The Minister accepted the recommendations of OCUA on operating grants in their entirety, with the exception of a recommendation that an additional $16.2 million be provided to the university system beyond the $568 million announced earlier.

METHOD OF ALLOCATION

In referring the method of allocation to OCUA, the Minister suggested that the options to be considered were: a continuation of the existing formula; a system whereby one Basic Income Unit value would be applied to the 1973-74 enrolment to compensate for inflation and a lesser BIU value would be applied to enrolment growth in the current year; a suspension of the operating grants formula in favour of a flat increase applied to current year's grants to each institution.

The OCUA recommended that the present formula be retained in 1975-76 for determining operating grants to the 15 universities, Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, and the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education. In so doing, the OCUA stated that it had considered the recommendation from the Council of Ontario Universities that this be the method adopted, and stated that it assigned particular weight to the reasoning expressed by COU in advancing its recommendation. COU had stated: We believe that the values of the formula system to the Ontario universities are so important that any suggestion of abandoning the present arrangements in the short term is unacceptable. Furthermore, because we are on a slip-year system, a change to the rules in mid-stream would be retroactive and inequitable.

In concurring with this view, OCUA said: Council believes that, under the present or any other formula, the prime requisite for the viability of a non-discretionary method of allocating university funds is the respect accorded to it by all concerned. Precipitous change can only erode such respect, and all the more so if its impact is arbitrarily retroactive in nature. Under such circumstances, equity is all too easily violated in the short run and confidence undermined in the long run.

After subtracting from the sum available, funds for non-formula supplementary grants and contingencies, this approach led the OCUA to recommend a BIU value of $2,108, an increase of 7.8% from the current year.

NON-FORMULA GRANTS

Seven of the universities received general supplementary grants in 1974-75. In recommending on these grants for 1975-76, the OCUA provided an examination of the criteria used. In so doing, the OCUA acknowledged that supplementary grants were the single most contentious issue with which it had to grapple, and commented on the difficult problem of determining "equity". Based on the principle that the raison d'être of a supplementary grant is to serve the goal of equity, the OCUA looked at various possible criteria. As a signal of difficulties, the existence of a deficit was considered, and the conclusion was that: Council deems a deficit to constitute at most a preliminary indicator that a university may be inequitably treated under the prevailing formula.

As to the idea that deficits can themselves justify the existence or the level of a university's supplementary grant, Council rejects the notion out of hand.

The OCUA commented on four criteria for possible supplementary support identified by the Council of Ontario Universities: size; mix of programmes; undergraduate vs. graduate orientation; geographical location.

On size, the OCUA concluded that the size criterion can only be of assistance at present in helping to resolve the level of what supplementary support, if any, might be accorded to the five evidently small universities in the Ontario system -- Brock, Lakehead, Laurentian, Trent and Wilfrid Laurier.

Analysis of the mix problem concentrated on the proportion of professional programmes, since it has been argued that universities cannot operate adequately under the present formula unless they have a sufficient proportion of "profitable" professional programmes. Acknowledging that the evidence possessed at the moment is incomplete and impressionistic, the OCUA concluded that this proposition is ill-founded, and that, if anything, a mix criterion might justify such support in reverse.

On undergraduate vs. graduate orientation, the OCUA determined that available data on the percentage of enrolment in graduate programmes did not justify supplementary support to the institutions (Carleton, Windsor, and York) which had requested it. Some institutions not receiving supplementary grants have lower percentages of total enrolment in graduate programmes than the universities seeking supplementary support.

Geographical location was not accepted by OCUA as a criterion for supplemental assistance in the context of general supplementary grants. The Council did, however, observe that particular geographic circumstances should be recognized as a matter of deliberate public policy. To this end, $1.3 million in a new programme of Northern Ontario grants was recommended.

Deliberating on other criteria for supplementary support which might be applied to the medium-size institutions which are currently receiving supplementary support, the OCUA felt that the case for such support in equity is far from clear and begs a host of questions that include such internal possibilities as unresponsive planning, course proliferation, incapacity to deal with internal enrolment shifts, and overstaffing. In emphasizing the transitional quality that should characterize supplementary support to these universities, Council is according temporary validity to what might be called a "mystification criterion" for supplementary support.

The current programme of bilingualism grants was continued, with a recommendation that the grants be increased by approximately 10%.

THE ADEQUACY OF GOVERNMENT SUPPORT

The one area in which the Minister did not accept OCUA advice on operating grants was on the adequacy of the BIU value. When announcing in November the total support available, the Minister stated: We believe that this amount is sufficient to offset inflationary trends, to maintain or improve existing levels of service and to accommodate predicted enrolment increases, under the explicit guideline that there will be no increase in students' tuition fees. The OCUA took those enunciated objectives strictly as given and attempted to answer the question "Is the announced expenditure target sufficient to offset the cost of meeting the Government's objectives?"

The OCUA noted that the expenditure target can be taken as having been adopted by the Government in good faith. But devising a spending target to match a set of objectives can be decision-making under uncertainty, especially under prevailing economic circumstances. Taking the enunciated objectives as given, the OCUA proceeded to advise simply on the extent to which the announced spending target can be expected to meet them. The government's objective to maintain or improve existing levels of service was taken by OCUA to mean that the objective takes dead aim on maintaining existing service levels and, if there is any error at the margin, that error should be in the direction of improvement.

Looking at inflationary trends, the OCUA applied the Consumer Price Index at an estimated conservative assumption of 11% to university salary and fringe benefit costs. The Wholesale Price Index was used as a guideline for estimated cost increases on non-salary items, forecast at 16%.

Acknowledging that government for some years has made it known that it expected productivity increases from the universities, the OCUA made allowance in its calculations for an expectation of 2.4% improvement, derived from the Economic Council's target for the economy as a whole.

The result of this exercise was the conclusion that the government's announced support was short of the cost of meeting the government's objectives by $16.2 million. The OCUA observed: What Council chooses to call its "best estimate" emerges from a series of judgements which if anything err in attributing too low a cost to Government's objectives. Council's estimates of inflationary trends are likely couched in optimistic terms. Even more important is Council's assumption about the capacity of universities to contribute to the achievement of Government's objectives through immediate efficiency measures. By incorporating into its exercise the 2.4 per cent productivity gain target of the Economic Council of Canada, Council has surely attributed enormous weight to Government's expectations, whether realistic or otherwise, that the university system can deploy its resources more effectively.

← This $16.2 million was translated into a recommendation: →

THAT the BIU value for 1975-76 be not less than $2,160, representing a 10.5% increase over the BIU value for 1974-75, and thereby enabling the Government to meet the cost of its enunciated objectives with respect to university support in 1975-76.

The recommendation of the Council of Ontario Universities in the Fall of 1974 was that the BIU value be increased by 16.8% to $2,283.

In reacting to the OCUA recommendation, the Minister said: I do appreciate the effort of the Council in undertaking a critical review of the current situation, but it is not possible for the government to provide any additional monies beyond the previously announced level of funding. We must impress upon you that the constraints faced by government are real and we must live within them if the stability of the Province is to be preserved. The constraints are forcing all sectors of the Province to make difficult adjustments under the pressures of inflation. However, we believe that with your co-operation the objectives I outlined in November can essentially be achieved.

As there is no foreseeable relief to these economic pressures, we must continue to adjust our planning and operations to reflect the changing times. The level of funding by government must be considered in the context of total government revenues. Given this principle, university funding must be based on the ability of government to meet its commitments as much as the needs projected by the universities.

The urgency of the situation requires the continued co-operation of your institution, the Ontario Council on University Affairs and the Ministry if we are to resolve the issues which face us.

Looking to the future, the Minister added that he was encouraged to note the positive attitude demonstrated by several of the institutions in meeting the long term challenges raised by the present financial environment. I am particularly pleased with the efforts some universities are making to examine the objectives of higher education, to define more clearly their own institutional role in the Ontario university system, and to find ways of adapting their institutional procedures to meet the pressing financial constraints.

Mr. Auld noted that specific suggestions have been made to him including reduction of course offerings at individual institutions, rationalization of programs between institutions, co-operative ventures in service areas such as computing, and the development of the consortium approach to meeting educational needs.

700 PEOPLE EXPECTED
AT ACTION CONFERENCE THIS WEEKEND

Arrangements for the Action Conference on financing post-secondary education taking place March 7-9 have been finalized. Representatives from the three major political parties in Ontario as well as from the Ontario Federation of Labour and the Canadian Union of Public Employees will be in attendance. The agenda, which will be published in Press this week, includes workshops on "philology of education", "alternative methods of university financing", and "labour and education" among others.

It is expected that approximately 475 people from outside the region will attend. The Steering Committee is looking for individuals at Brock to billet out-of-town students. Although the response to its request for billets has been good so far, accommodations are still needed. If you can take in one or two people for one or two nights, please call Faith Hoover at 688-3672.

The conference estimated to cost $4,000, is being financed by contributions from each of the universities in Ontario, organizations within the region, and from individual students, faculty, and staff members here at Brock. In many departments the response to the request for contributions has been good, with individuals donating an average of $15. Individuals who have pledged funds for the conference are asked to forward their cheque, payable to the Ontario Students' Action Conference, to the BUSAC office as soon as possible.

For further information or to make contributions, contact Michael D'Souza at extension 431.

BLOOD DONOR CLINIC

On Tuesday, March 11, the Canadian Red Cross Society will be back on campus to solicit. They don't want your money or your life, just a small percentage of your healthy blood.

The response to last year's clinic is a source of pride. Two hundred and seventy one pints of blood were donated in a four hour period. Considering the small size of the clinic and the undaunted spirit of the members of our community who waited upwards of an hour to donate their blood, our response was commendable. The target for this year is 300 pints. Taking into account the larger facilities to be used this year, additional clinic staff and the number of potential donors who were unable to wait in the long lines, perhaps our target should be closer to 400 pints.

The clinic will be held on Tuesday, March 11 from 10:45 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. in the Poesis Lounge. Do you care enough to help?

PSHAW FESTIVAL

PSHAW! The students of the Drama Department are working on the finishing touches of their annual spring festival. The festival is a group of seven One Act Plays, and the entertainment promises to be both imaginative and entertaining. The playwriting class produced the plays, and topics range from the comedy-musical to the serious and half way back again. The student directors have chosen casts from the second year acting class which offers a wide assortment of skills, talents and personalities. Student designers are building sets and making costumes. Activity is at its summit! The venerable lady, G. B. Pshaw is looking on with interest.

It all happens March 13, 14, 15 and 16th in Thistle Theatre. The shows begin at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings. There will be two matinees on Saturday and Sunday at 2:00 p.m. The admission is free. Everyone should see PSHAW!

IMMUNIZATION DAY

The Health Service is organizing an immunization day on Wednesday, March 12, 1975, from 12:00 to 4:00 p.m. for immunity against the following diseases:

Tetanus and Polio:

Those who are immunized against these diseases require a booster every five years to maintain their protection. There is little or no reaction to this injection and since this is a Public Health Service, the serum is provided free of charge.

Mumps

Mumps vaccine is available for those who have never had mumps. One injection provides immunity for life. There is little or no reaction to this vaccine, however anyone having a known allergy to eggs or chicken feathers are requested not to take this injection. For faculty and staff, the cost of the mumps injection is $2.75. For students the cost is $2.00.

The next meeting of the Brock University Womens' Society will be held on Thursday, March 13 at 8:00 p.m. on the 13th floor of the Tower. The guest speaker for this meeting is Mr. Peter Harris of Rodman Hall who will speak on Ontario and Canadian Art.

Professor E. A. Cherniak will address the Niagara Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada on Tuesday, March 25 at 8:00 p.m. in room 243Th. His topic will be 'Sweden - Is 'brave new world' already here?' Students and the public are welcome.

Dr. Gerald Hart, Director of the Department of Maematology, Toronto East General Hospital, will present a slide lecture to the Niagara Peninsula Society of the Archaeological Institute of America, on Sunday, March 9 at 8:15 p.m. in the Staff Dining area of the Carousel Cafeteria. The topic will be 'Paleopathology or the Diagnosis of Disease in Ancient Man'. Dr. Hart will become more specific about the recent autopsy of an Egyptian mummy at the Royal Ontario Museum in Toronto. Refreshments will be served. Admission to non-members is $1.50, students $.75. In conjunction with Dr. Hart's lecture will be the official opening of the exhibit 'Burial Customs of Ancient Cyprus'. SHORTS

A copy of the Association of Commonwealth Universities' Scholarships Guide for Commonwealth Postgraduate Students is available for consultation in the Registrar's Office.

The India-Canada Association of the Niagara Peninsula will be holding cooking classes to demonstrate cuisines from various provinces of India. The classes will be held at the Multicultural Centre, 18 Secord Drive, St. Catharines. For information please contact Mrs. Seoni (356-5216) or Mrs. Nadkarni (688-0241).

Drs. R. T. Bell and W. T. Jolly presented a paper on 'Archean Greywackes - Petrology and Lithogenesis' at the 5th Annual Midwest Superior Geotraverse Conference at the University of Toronto on February 24 and 25.

An article by Alan D. Booth entitled 'Roman Attitudes to Physical Education' has appeared in Classical News and Views 19, no. I (1975), 27-34. Although the catch-word "A healthy mind in a healthy body" was current in Rome, Professor Booth has shown that Romans did not have a distinct ideal of fitness. Though men of letters would praise activity they tended to avoid and even despise exercise. So the "book-worm versus the jock" is no new conflict, and then, as now, exercise could be praised and neglected.

Prof. H. Schutz took part in a panel on 'Foreign Language Careers and Community Needs' and was the co-chairman and Moderator of a second panel in the German section at the Fourth International Conference of the Ontario Modern Language Teachers' Association meeting held February 27 - March 1 at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education.

Ontario will provide 17,500 student summer jobs this year, the government announced last week. Ten thousand jobs are under the government's regular summer replacement program, 7,500 are under a special $10.1 million program to support students working in such areas as pollution control, legal aid and traffic studies.

NIMMONS 'N NINE
PLUS SIX

Jazz. People music, the special blending of a composer's talent, the artist's virtuosity and inspiration, audience rapport. Nimmons 'n Nine Plus Six are masters of jazz. Their style encompasses rock, swing, mainstream and the traditional.

Accomplished performers on stage and for radio, they have entertained at the National Arts Centre in Ottawa, Ontario Place, and university campuses and jazz festivals across the country. You might be most familiar with their performances for the CBC Radio Jazz broadcasts.

The program for the concert by Nimmons 'n Nine Plus Six at Thistle Theatre on March 21 at 8:30 p.m. will include standard jazz material such as "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby" and "Take The A Train" and selections with contemporary arrangements in the 'jazz-rock' idiom. The featured work of the evening will be an original composition "Suite P.E.I." which was commissioned for the Prince Edward Island Centennial and was premiered in Confederation Hall, Charlottetown, in 1973.

Tickets for the Nimmons 'n Nine Plus Six concert are available at the Thistle Theatre Box Office.

COMPOSERS STRING QUARTET

The Composers String Quartet was established in 1965 in response to a need for a string quartet which would devote itself extensively but not exclusively, to contemporary works in that medium. Their many concerts, extensive recordings of contemporary works and symposia on various university campuses have won the Quartet a devoted public and high critical acclaim. They have been invited abroad several times - most recently to the Netherlands and England for radio and television concerts - and made a celebrated tour of the U.S.S.R. and Bulgaria under State Department auspices in 1972. They were the first American ensemble to perform in Bulgaria since World War II. In the spring of 1974 they were appointed quartet-in-residence at Columbia University in New York City.

The Composers String Quartet will appear at Thistle Theatre on March 19 at 8:30 p.m. Their program will include Johannes Brahms Quartet in c minor, Op. 51, No. 1; Bela Bartok Quartet No. 4; and Felix Mendelssohn Quartet in A major, Op. 13. Tickets are available at the Thistle Theatre Box Office.

AYAKO UCHIYAMA
JAPANESE KABUKI DANCER

On March 18, the Fine Arts Committee and the Brock University Students' Union will present Ayako Uchiyama, Japanese Kabuki Dancer, who will perform one of the most exquisite pieces of Japanese dance culture.

Ayako won critical acclaim and the coveted "Hokkaido Cultural Prize" in 1955. Today she is well known for her perceptive views on Eastern art as revealed in her Japanese theatre film-lectures as well as in her dance-drama concerts.

The film "Hagoromo" will be shown at 2:00 p.m. in Thistle Theatre. "Hagoromo" offers the viewer a complete performance of this timeless Noh play. After the film Ayako will discuss and answer any questions regarding the film.

With her Japanese Kabuki Dancing, Ayako Uchiyama will present a rare occasion of theatre dance in Thistle Theatre at 8:30 p.m. Admission is free.

SPRING CONCERTS

The Music Program will present a series of Spring Concerts from Saturday, March 22 to Saturday, April 12.

Participants include the University Collegium Musicum, the University Chamber Choir, the University Choir, the St. Catharines Youth Orchestra (strings), the Chamber Orchestra (including the Bradley Organization).

Subject to the decision of the jury, Brock students may receive awards to a total of $200 for up to five of the best exhibited works.

The exhibition is open daily, 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, until April 5.

UPCOMING LECTURES

A Biological Sciences research seminar entitled "A Proposal for the Rejuvenation of the Rideau River in the national capital region: A Study in Applied Limnology" will be presented by Dr. M. D. Dickman on Thursday, March 20 at 4:00 pm in room 204G.

On Friday, March 21, the Philosophy Club and Colloquium will present Dr. Sam Mallin of Atkinson College, York University. At 3:00 p.m. his topic will be "Merleau Ponty's Metaphysics: Being, Temporality, Subjectivity, and History" and at 8:00 p.m., "Being Oneself - A Satanic Vision". Both meetings are to be held in the Board Room on the 13th floor.

Professor E. A. Cherniak will address the Niagara Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada on Tuesday, March 25 at 8:00 p.m. in room 243Th. His topic will be "Sweden - Is 'brave new world' already here?" Students and the public are welcome.

LEAVING HOME

VARSITY WIN

"Leaving Home", by Canadian playwright David French, will be presented on March 24 and 25 at 8:30 p.m. in Thistle Theatre (Backstage).

The play is a moving portrayal of a family from Newfoundland. It describes the troubles of a young man attempting to communicate with his father. It also investigates the painful awkwardness of youth attempting to handle the age-old situation of a marriage which is arranged because a young girl is pregnant.

Director, Olga Habib, is working with actors and actresses from the community, as well as with Drama Department students. Sets and costumes are designed by Sheila Nicholas.

Miss Habib is directing "Leaving Home" as the final project in her directing tutorial with resident director, Peter Boretski of the Drama Department.

This is a play which should interest most age groups. Admission is $1.00.

OUTSTANDING
ATHLETIC ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Nominations are now being accepted for the male and female outstanding athletic achievement award. Nomination forms are available in the Physical Education Office and must be accompanied by three signatures. If there is an athlete at Brock this year who you feel is deserving of this award, please submit your nomination before Thursday, March 20, 1975.

On Saturday, March 1, at the Garden City Arena, the fifth annual Alumni-Varsity hockey game was held. The 1974/75 Brock Badgers managed to squeeze past the Alumni in a closely fought contest. The final result was in dispute as the Badgers opening goal was scored by a group of "cheerleaders" against the startled Alumni. The afternoon contest, the post-game Mansion House meeting and the social get-together at Brock that evening finished a most highly successful event.

SHORTS

The Executive of the Faculty Club extends an invitation to all faculty and staff to attend the special St. Patrick's Day Luncheon on Monday, March 17 from 12:00 noon until 1:15p.m. Full bar services will be available. The smorgasbord will include apple-juice, salad, roll, ham and pineapple, au gratin potatoes, jello, tea and coffee for $2.00

The Owl's Nest Coffee House is sponsoring an Irish Pub Night on Monday, March 17 at 8:00 p.m. in the Campus Centre. Duffy and Bailey, Irish pub singers, will provide the entertainment. Full bar services will be available. Admission is 50¢.

Prof. J. A. Edds' article "Whatever became of Operational Auditing?" was published in the March 1975 issue of the CA Magazine.

Prof. J. Miller attended the Pittsburgh Conference on Analytical Chemistry and Applied Spectroscopy in Cleveland last week. A most disturbing aspect of the conference was the realization that the cost of scientific equipment has doubled in less than five years. Calculators and mini-computers are almost the only area in which prices have dropped, showing that good design, technology and competition can counteract even today's inflation.

The Department of Politics hosted several lectures by visiting speakers: Prof. K. Sayeed from Queen's University spoke on the "Role of Leadership in Political Modernization of India"; Prof. Milton Israel from the University of Toronto lead a graduate seminar on the "Role of Press in the Political Process in India"; Prof. R. Simons, Guelph University, lectured on the "Sino-Soviet Relations and the Korean War".

On Monday, March 10, the entire faculty of the University of Western Ontario's German Department visited Brock's Department of Germanic and Slavic Studies in order to study Brock's innovative programs and methods in German language teaching. The U.W.O. delegation observed a German 190 language lab class and two class hours of German 399, a new team-taught course. Of particular interest were the extensive and versatile language lab facilities, a German 399 student-run teaching project with student-prepared materials and simultaneous translation labs, and the German 190 audio-visual film program.

The Twenty-Fourth Annual Conference of the Ontario Association for Curriculum Development will be held at the Holiday Inn, London, Ontario, November 13, 14 and 15. For further information contact Dina Nicholson, Administrative Secretary, Ontario Association for Curriculum Development, 1260 Bay Street, Toronto, M5R 2B5, 966-3424.

Applications to the Ontario Student Assistance Program (OSAP) are up 12.7% this year. By the end of January, 90,662 students had applied for financial aid from OSAP for the 1974/75 academic year. By the same time last year, 80,388 students had requested assistance. So far, provincial grants of $36.9 million have been paid, an increase of about 22% over 1973/74. Canada Student Loans in Ontario are up approximately 16% to $59.1 million

Good Friday, March 28 and Easter Monday, March 31 will be recognized as holidays at Brock University.

The Physical Education Complex will close for the four day weekend, while the Library will maintain normal working hours as follows:

Good Friday	8:30 a.m. - 12:00 midnight
Easter Saturday	9:00 a.m. - 9:00 p.m.
Easter Sunday	1:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m.
Easter Monday	8:30 a.m. - 12:00 midnight.

ART SHOW

Judging in the Brock Community Art Show has been completed and awards of $40.00 each have been presented to Jane Dywan, Suzanne Hawthorn, Dennis Stewart, W. Stouck and Janice Yusko.

The exhibition will be on display in the Thistle Theatre Lobby, Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., until April 5.

THE BALCONY

The Department of Drama will present The Balcony by Jean Genet in Thistle Theatre on April 4 and 5 at 8:30 p.m.

Genet's masterpiece is an exploration of the suppressed aspects of the human psyche. It is rarely performed because of the exhausting demands it makes on its actors. The Brock production is the result of nearly four months of research and preparation on the part of visiting director, Peter Boretski, and the advanced acting class.

The setting for The Balcony is Madame Irma's house of illusion; a world famous brothel where ordinarily people can, for a while, shed their meek and mundane existence. They act out their fantasies, however extravagant or violent they may be.

Admission is $1.50 for students and $2.50 for others.

SPRING CONCERT

The first in a series of Spring Concerts sponsored by the Department of Music will be presented in the Lobby of Thistle Theatre on Saturday, March 22 at 8:00 p.m.

A program of Renaissance and Baroque music will be presented by the University Collegium Musicum. Admission is free.

PAPER RECYCLING

The Abitibi Paper Company has informed the university that recent bond paper recycling collections have contained far too much unsuitable material. The inclusion of carbon paper, telephone books, plastic and newsprint paper is jeopardizing the recycle program.

Only bond type waste paper consisting of letterheads, memos, envelopes, advertising brochures, etc. is to be placed in the red plastic salvage bags. Other material should be discarded for normal garbage collection as such recycling is not feasible at this time.

For further information, contact D. M. Edwards at extension 254.

UPCOMING LECTURE

Professor E. A. Cherniak will address the Niagara Section of the Chemical Institute of Canada on Tuesday, March 25 at 8:00 p.m. in room 243Th. His topic will be "Sweden - Is 'brave new world' already here?" Students and the public are welcome.

BLOOD DONOR CLINIC

A letter from the Canadian Red Cross Society described Brock's response to the March 11 Blood Donor Clinic as excellent. Two hundred and seventy-five donors registered in a four hour period.

The Society anticipates returning in late September for another clinic.

SHORTS

Barriada, a documentary on Lima, Peru's shanty towns - its people and their survival, will be shown on Monday, March 24 at 12:00 noon in room 246Th. This film was produced by Tomislav Milinusic, a former Brock student.

Applications are now being sought for the position of Executive Associate with the Ontario Confederation of University Faculty Associations (OCUFA). The appointment will commence July 1, 1975. Applications, including a curriculum vitae and the names of three referees, should be sent as soon as possible to The Chairman, Selection Committee, OCUFA, 40 Sussex Avenue, Toronto, Ontario M5S 1J7.

Professor Simon Haynes delivered a lecture entitled "Plate tectonics and metallogenesis, S. Iran", on Friday, March 14 at Lakehead University. Professor Haynes is presently engaged in research on continental collision with particular regard to the distribution of metallic and non-metallic mineral deposits. He will address the Brock University Geological Society on Monday, March 24, at 8:00 p.m. in D Block, 4th floor on the topic of "Iran".

ENROLMENT QUOTAS

Both the University of Toronto and the University of Western Ontario have voted to limit enrolment of full-time first year students, beginning next year. The quotas in each case have been broken down to faculty by faculty figures, although program quotas will be redistributed if one program or faculty does not get its quotas of applicants.

The policy statement from the University of Toronto comments that "while the University is conscious of the difficulties sometimes caused individuals by a restrictive policy, it is impossible for it to respond fully, by itself, to all of society's demands. If society decides that it requires more graduates in an area, it should be prepared to provide the University with the funds necessary to produce them."

The University of Western Ontario feels that "by setting quotas now, Western will become known as an institution which puts emphasis on quality rather than quantity."

Demographic projections show that the population of Ontario in the university age group will reach a peak in 1982 and then decline for a period of 9 years to reach a minimum in 1991. There is at present unused capacity in the Ontario university system and there are clear indications that the provincial government wishes to exploit this unused capacity before encouraging further growth in fully-developed university centres. Increases in part-time enrolments do not present the same potential financial difficulties as increases in full-time enrolments. Nor do they represent the same strain on physical facilities as long as they continue to consist, in large part, of enrolments in evening courses.

PLANNING FOR PLANNING

A new publication from the AUCC calls upon governments to get together with the universities to find a more workable long-range planning process for higher education.

The study was undertaken because of the lack of well-defined and systematic processes for exchanging information and examining basic assumptions with governments. It concerns the interaction of universities and governments, and its objective is to develop guidelines for establishing processes for effective long-term planning. Some of the points it makes:

- public criticism of universities results from the absence of a consensus about what universities should be and what purposes they should serve;
- universities cannot be effective or accountable unless their goals are understood by themselves and the public that supports them through government grants;
- universities and governments must agree about what these goals should be and this agreement can only be reached by proper long-term planning involving both parties.

TOP CANADIAN OLYMPIANS
RETURN TO BROCK

Brock's own Kathy Prosser and the University of Waterloo's Debbie Mitchell should also be strong contenders.

In the junior men's 3.2 mile event, fans will see the return of Jim Buell from the University of Kentucky who was the upset victor at the Cross-Country Championships and is the U.S. junior champion at 10,000M.

DIVISIONAL DEANS AND REGISTRAR APPOINTED

Following the April 8th meeting of the Board of Trustees, a number of appointments were announced by President Alan Earp. The first Dean of the Division of Humanities will be Dr. J. M. McEwen of the Department of History. Professor McEwen, who holds degrees from the Universities of Toronto, Manchester and London, was an associate professor at the University of Manitoba before coming to Brock in 1966. He is a specialist in British history and is currently writing on The English Revolution of 1916.

Dr. McEwen's counterpart in the new Division of Social Sciences will be Dr. W. A. Matheson of the Department of Politics. Professor Matheson, who came to Brock in 1969, is a graduate of Dalhousie University, the University of Western Ontario and Carleton University. He has also had extensive experience in the business world. During the current session he has been Acting Director of the program in Administrative Studies. Dr. Matheson's special interest is in Canadian politics and he is the author of a book entitled The Canadian Cabinet and the Prime Minister scheduled for publication next year.

Dean of the Division of Mathematics and Sciences for the coming year will be Dr. C. A. Plint (Physics) who has served as Dean of the Faculty of Arts and Science since 1969. After a long dispute and arbitration, teachers at Ontario's community colleges have settled their September 1, 1973 contract. It provides increases totalling 26.3 per cent over the two-year contract - which expires in another five months. The arbitration board also said teachers and administrators must work out rules about teaching workload; one ground rule is that the average community college teacher is to teach fewer hours a week than the average high school teacher.

The Carleton University Senate Committee on Instructional Development, with the assistance of a grant from the Ontario Universities Program for Instructional Development, is holding a Summer Institute during May and June.

The program will consist of a series of six two-day workshops on various aspects of instructional development. Participants are welcomed from any Ontario university and no fees will be charged, although travel and accommodation will be the responsibility of the individual or his or her institution.

The workshops to be offered are: Producing Self-Instructional Packages, May 13-14; Management of Small Group Discussion, May 15-16; Simulation Use and Design, June 10-11; Production of Instructional Materials, June 12-13; Evaluation of Students, June 17-18; Making the Most of the Large Lecture Method, June 19-20.

Faculty members interested in attending any of these workshops may be eligible for travel assistance from the President's Office.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND

The University's student Italian Club and the Division of Italian have presented a cheque for $1,000 to the University to be added to the Italian scholarship fund. This sum represents the profit from the Serata Italiana which took place on March 14 at Club Roma. The Brock Community Italian Prize, awarded annually to the most outstanding student taking Italian, is calculated on the basis of the interest accruing to the fund.

CANADA COUNCIL GRANT

The University is to receive a grant in the amount of $3,474 from the Canada Council in support of a Conference on Language Development and Neurological Theory to be held at Brock on May 9 and 10. This conference is being organized by the Department of Psychology.

REPORT AVAILABLE

Copies of the Green Paper from the Special Committee (of the Council of Ontario Universities) to assess university policies and plans are being distributed to Chairmen and members of Senate. Additional copies may be obtained from the President's Office.

A REMINDER

The Information/Liaison and Alumni Office and staff have been relocated for the summer months. Ms. Laura Hopkins, Schools Liaison and Alumni Officer can now be reached in the Registrar's Office at extension 262. The secretary, Mrs. Barbara Durocher, can be reached in the Philosophy Department at extension 223.

OFF-CAMPUS COURSE APPRECIATED

The President has received a letter from the students enrolled in the Education 500 and 590 classes which have been given at Grimsby on Saturday mornings during the current session.

"Many of us", the letter states, "who wish to proceed on a M.Ed. program, come from the Hamilton-Grimsby area and our only previous alternatives were to go to Buffalo, Toronto or St. Catharines. We do appreciate the inconvenience that offering such off-campus courses may place upon the instructors and the university but we do hope that Brock University will see fit to continue this practice in the future."

LIBRARY SUMMER HOURS

The following opening hours will be in effect in the University Library for the period Saturday, May 3, 1975 through Saturday, July 5, 1975:

Monday -	8:30 am - 11:00 pm
Thursday
Friday	8:30 am - 5:00 pm
Saturday	9:00 am - 5:00 pm
Sunday	Closed

ANNUAL RECALL OF LIBRARY BOOKS

All University Library material currently on loan to faculty, staff and graduate students, having a due date of March 14, 1975 or earlier, should be returned to the University Library as soon as possible. Books may be renewed at the time of return, unless required by other readers.

It is particularly important that faculty members who are proceeding on sabbatical leave, or leave of absence, or who will be away for an extended period during the summer, should return all books prior to leaving the campus.

CONCERTS APPLAUDED

The following excerpt of a review by Professor Carl Wolff appeared in the St. Catharines Standard.

"The Music Department of Brock University deserves high praise not just for Saturday's concert but for the splendid quality and variety of the concerts they have given in St. Catharines and around the peninsula during the past three weeks. Their unusual and imaginative programs have also made effective use of local instrumental and vocal groups outside the university and are an indication of how co-operation can extend resources and of how the university is serving the community in musical terms. It is to be hoped that more people in the region will take advantage of such fine programs next year, when the Brock Music Department presents its Christmas and spring concerts."

FACULTY CLUB

The Faculty Club will close for the summer months commencing Monday, May 5. Both luncheon and Friday night bar services will be affected.

SHORTS

The Physical Education Complex will be closed from Sunday, May 4 through Thursday, May 8.

During the last three months, ten counsellors from the Lincoln County Board of Education participated in a ten-session Counselling Skills Program conducted by Dr. David L. Jordan.

On April 18 and 19, eighteen professional and volunteer Mental Health workers from North Eastern Ontario participated in a twelve hour program on the Helping Relationship conducted by Dr. David Jordan in Timmins. The program was sponsored by Northern College, Department of Continuing Education.

An article entitled "Pinter as a Radio Dramatist" by Professor M. J. Miller appears in the most recent issue of Modern Drama.

Dr. Hugh Gayler, Department of Geography, who will be spending the 1975/76 academic year at the University of Reading, has been awarded a travel grant under the Commonwealth University Interchange Scheme.

Professors D. Sutherland and T.J.A. LeGoff of York University co-authored an article entitled "The Revolution and the Rural Community in Eighteenth Century Brittany". The article appeared in Past and Present, 62 (1974), 96-119 and won the William Koren Jr. Prize which is awarded annually by the French Historical Society for the best article in French history by an American or Canadian.

An article entitled "UNESCO and World Politics: Engaging in International Relations", by Professor J. P. Sewell will be published by the Princeton University Press this summer.

From April 5-8, Professor R. Bismuth attended meetings of the Societas Linguistica Europea at the University of Nottingham, England and read a paper entitled "Apports du français d'Afrique du Nord au français standard". The paper will appear in Folia Linguistica published by Mouton of The Hague. After the meetings, Professor Bismuth visited Nantes to finalize with Professor Miannay of the University there arrangements for a colloquium on Maurice Rollinat, to be held in conjunction with the centenary celebration of the death of George Sand, under the auspices of the Association Internationale des Etudes Françaises. In March Professor Bismuth acted as external examiner for a doctoral thesis, submitted to Rhodes University, South Africa, and entitled "Social Criteria in the Drama of Molière".

An article by Professor B. J. Bucknall entitled "Anne Hébert et Violette Leduc, lectrices de Proust" has been published in the February Bulletin of the Association of Canadian University Teachers of French.

An article by Professor M. J. Cardy entitled "Some Reflexions on the Language Program from a New University - A Discursive Essay" is to appear in the May issue of the Canadian Modern Language Review.

Professor R. De Luca read a paper on the teaching of authors and literature at a colloquium on The Teaching of Italian, held in Toronto on April 12 and sponsored jointly by the Ministry of Education and the Modern Language Centre of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education.

The University of Western Ontario is seeking a Dean for the Faculty of Social Sciences to succeed Professor G. L. Reuber who was recently appointed Vice-President (Academic) and Provost.

Like a few other institutions, Carleton University is looking seriously at a "challenge for credit" system which could give university credit for things a student has learned "through such means as work experience, job training, non-university courses, and private or independent study".

Within the next five years, one out of ten United States colleges and universities will either close down or be involved in a merger, predicts a study conducted for the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching. But it adds that if "certain hurdles" in policy can be overcome, colleges can operate well with a much smaller portion of the Gross National Product than they have been used to.

Victoria Day, Monday, May 19, 1975, will be recognized as a holiday at Brock University.

In order to accommodate Continuing Education students, the University Library will be open from 4:00 p.m. to 11:00 p.m. on Monday, May 19.

BIU VALUE INCREASES

Mr. James Auld announced that the BIU value to be used in calculating the 1975-76 operating grants for the universities has been increased $3 to $2,111. This was made possible because the actual enrolment on which the grants are based is slightly lower than had been forecast. The increase is being achieved within the global expenditure limit of $568 million set last November. Brock's BIU income will be $8,541,000.

The needs of universities in the area of physical facility maintenance are under review by the government, with a view to relieving some of the pressure on university operating funds.

The Institute focused on the application of automated systems in an attempt to solve the increasingly complex problems facing Serials librarians in the acquisition and organization of serials publications. Difficulties in the bibliographic control of serials are being compounded by irregularity and delays in publishing, mergers, suspensions, reappearances and title changes many of which result from financial restraints commonly present in the publishing world today.

Janette Ross of the Library has recently completed all requirements for her Master of Library Science degree from the University of Toronto. Miss Ross attended Library School at McGill University on a full-time basis for her first year of studies, but completed her second year at the University of Toronto on a part-time basis whilst employed as a Bibliographic Assistant in the Reference Department of the University Library.

SHORTS

Dr. J. Winifred Alston of the Department of Classics appeared on The Pat Murray Show, Toronto Today (CFTO TV) on Thursday, May 29, 1975 to talk about the Cyprus Women Walk Home.

On Saturday and Sunday, May 10-11, the Classics Department held its annual May Weekend with the Classics. About 30 students from various parts of Ontario, with a number of teachers, came to hear lectures and demonstrations and to join some Classics activities. Brock instructors introduced them to practical archaeology, to modern language-learning techniques and to some important and timely aspects of Classical literature and the Classical tradition. The occasion showed that although Latin has virtually disappeared from Ontario high schools, some students remain keenly interested in the Classical world. Indeed most of those present agreed that the interest would be general, if only the high-school curriculum allowed students to encounter the civilization of Greece and Rome.

Professor A. C. Bennet of the College of Education has been appointed as Chairman of the Department of Curriculum Studies in the College of Education for a three-year period commencing July 1.

Professors J. Terasmae and J.A.C. Fortescue, together with graduate students Steve Blasco, Chris McAtee, Cathie and Ron Winn, participated in the Quaternary Stratigraphy Conference at York University on May 22 to 25. Dr. Terasmae presented a paper titled "Quaternary Stratigraphy of Southern Ontario", and led a field trip to Scarborough Bluffs where the conference attendants examined the geological record of Pleistocene deposits. The conference focused attention on the Quaternary geology of North America and the correlation of stratigraphic events covering the last three million years.

Dr. Tatiana Perekalina and Dr. Vladimir G. Krivovichev from Leningrad State University, U.S.S.R., visited the Department over the weekend of May 17-18 along with a visit to the Niagara Peninsula. Profs. Perekalina and Krivovichev are specialists in economic geology and mineral deposits.

Professor Z. Adamczewski read the inaugurating paper at the 10th Annual Meeting of the Heidegger Circle at Wilfrid Laurier University, May 16.

Dean C.A. Plint and Dr. D.W. Lepard attended the H.L. Welsh Lectures in Physics held at the University of Toronto on May 22 and 23. Dr. G. Herzberg opened the conference with a review of Dr. H.L. Welsh's scientific work. Invited speakers - J.A. Jacobs, J.L. Locke, A. Salam, A. L. Schawlow, M. Tinkham, and D. Wilkinson - gave excellent accounts of various branches of physics, directed to the non-specialist. In particular, the lecture by D. Wilkinson on "What is the Atomic Nucleus Made Of?" should be singled out as a superb model on how to give a lecture.

The Fall Conference of the Ontario Modern Language Teachers' Association is to be held at the University on Saturday, October 18. Over 500 teachers of languages are expected to attend and several members of the Department of Romance Studies, together with colleagues from the Department of Germanic and Slavic Studies, are closely involved in planning the program and the material arrangements.

CYPRUS WOMEN WALK HOME

'The 20th of April - a cold and windy day for April - 300 foreign women, including delegations from as far away as Canada, the United States, Australia, England, Europe, Egypt, Africa, the Netherlands, gather in a tiny village close to the Attila Line: a line of trenches, sandbags, machine gun posts, barbed wire, armed patrols and tanks. And from all over the island buses bring thousands of Cypriot women: women from Famagusta and Kyrenia now living in refugee camps; women from villages who have not seen the Turkish army but who love their land so deeply they know and understand what it must be like to lose it. Farmers' wives mingle with women lawyers and doctors. Typists and housewives share a thermos of coffee and the hope that their march will achieve its object.'

With these words, a Nikosia commentator began her description of The Women Walk Home, April 20, 1975.

At the start of the Walk, where the 30,000 women were mustered and given their flags and banners, speeches from representative delegates from foreign countries recapitulated the aims of the marchers and brought words of encouragement and support from their respective organizations all around the world:

'Today we solidly support the Women's Walk... We hope desired results will come of this Walk and that the Cypriots will be able to go back to their homes very soon.'

'I think it is a stupid thing that on both sides of the border there are living unhappy people. Both people want to return home.'

'We have been shocked by the plight and inhuman conditions of the once happy people of Cyprus.'

'I support the cause of a just and peaceful settlement for Cyprus, greatly shocked by what I saw in refugee camps.'

'We share your sorrow and despair!'

Melina Mercouri, well-known actress of Greek birth, spoke eloquently for all the women of the island:

'Women of Cyprus, you who have lost your homes and possessions through man's inhumanity, I greet you. Many of you have been uprooted from your homes in the north and now live in a tent, or have been forced through man's politics to leave your home in the south and to live in a strange home in the north. I want to stand with you, my sisters, upright, as you stand, in dignity, Greek Cypriot women, you who now, in the spring, remember your beautiful homes in Kyrenia, the lemon groves, and you, Turkish Cypriot women, who gaze out of a stranger's window and remember the palms of Larnaca and the gulf of Episcopi.'

For nearly three miles the 30,000 women walked towards the ghost town of Famagusta through the lovely countryside, noted for its orange groves, six abreast, bearing the countless flags and banners of foreign countries and organizations. The country road was lined with people; every small village was thronged. But it was strange. It was the women who were marching, their men who were watching, standing and clapping, weeping, doffing their hats, saluting their women, as they walked slowly by. It was a unique event in the history of humanity.

At the No-man's Land in the centre of which the UN peace-keeping forces had set out a table and chairs, prominent women, two at a time, made repeated attempts to present to the Turkish military authorities the unanimous UN Resolution 1312, which endorses a safe return of all refugees to their homes.

During these attempts, the rest of the 30,000 women sat down in the road in silent support. Finally, the resolution had to be left with the UN officer in charge, who promised to do his best to see that it reached Turkish authorities in Ankara.

An urgent message of sisterly love and reconciliation and an appeal for co-operation to re-establish a free and independent Cyprus for all Cypriots, addressed to the Cypriot Turkish women was also refused.

A vigil of some 60 Cypriot women then succeeded the march of the 30,000. The flags of the nations were thrust into the barbed wire of the Attila Line and, from that Sunday of April 20 until the Wednesday of April 23, women sat in all weathers in silent protest confronting the Turkish barricades. The people of the countryside and the villages helped them with blankets, food, and drink. When would it end? Finally, on the fourth day of the vigil, one of the women had a brilliant idea. Since the Turkish military authorities in front of Famagusta would not receive their resolution, perhaps there was another way. Through the facilities of the UN command post, Resolution 1312 was sent by Telex to the Turkish Embassy in London, England. Back came the answer: 'Message received.'

So the vigil ended and with a feeling of relief and happiness the women and villagers flooded the little cafes and coffee houses to talk over with one another the poignant experiences of those four historic days.

Shakespeare's rewrite of Homer and Chaucer is a memorable product of his mature years. Troilus and Cressida will be presented on Friday and Saturday, June 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m. in Thistle Theatre. Admission is $1.00.

SUMMER CONCERT

The Music Department will present a concert at Ridley College Chapel on Sunday, June 22 at 8:30 p.m. The University Choir, directed by T. McGary; Professor Velmer Headley (tenor); Rose Bandi (soprano); and Harold Siebert (bass) will present a varied program. The main works of the program will be Bach's Toccata and Fugue in d major, Bach's Cantata 17 and the Soler Concerto for two keyboard instruments.

SABBATICAL LEAVES

To help avoid lost and misplaced keys, faculty members, who expect to be out-of-town while on sabbatical leave, are requested to return their keys to the Key Control Office in the Central Utilities Building. Faculty members who anticipate remaining in this area while on leave are also requested to return their keys, with the exception of those to their own office and department secretariat.

Your co-operation would be appreciated in order to appreciably decrease the number of misplaced keys.

THEATRE OF THE AIRWAVES

"Theatre of the Airwaves" is an Opportunities for Youth project operating in St. Catharines to bring the community a series of four original Canadian playscripts. These plays will be filmed by Cable Eight Television and presented for viewing at a later date.

This project will involve the talents of several Brock University drama and film students and will utilize the support of the Thistle Theatre and Carousel Players.

The scripts, in the form of one-act plays, were written and produced for Brock's annual festival of one-act plays.

The first of these, "The Lady's Name was Sarah", was written by Nick Foforzan and was recently awarded a playwrighting prize by a Vancouver theatre.

"The Lady's Name was Sarah" will star Katie Trotter, Stephen Heatley and Ted Phythian. Ms. Trotter, a recent Brock drama graduate with a background in both acting and directing, has just been accepted at the National Theatre School in Montreal.

Stephen Heatley is rapidly becoming a well-known face to St. Catharines theatre audiences through his work with Carousel Players over the past season, both as an actor and as a playwright. He has also performed with Press Theatre in "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown", and "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead". Mr. Heatley has just been commissioned to write and research a playscript for Quebec City Summer Stock Theatre.

Ted Phythian has just completed his first year at Brock and in addition to drama department productions, has appeared in Press Theatre's "The Sunshine Boys" and "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern are Dead", as well as Garden City Productions' "My Fair Lady" at Shaw Festival.

"The Lady's Name was Sarah" was filmed on location at the York Street home of Warren Hartman, resident designer for Thistle Theatre and Drama Department professor.

UCPA CONFERENCE

Mr. Hal Snelgrove of the Student Placement Office attended the annual conference of the University and College Placement Association (UCPA) at Laurentian University June 8-11. The 300 delegates included senior officials and recruiters from major employers and departments of government, as well as representatives of university and college placement offices across Canada.

As a working conference designed for action, problems related to career counselling and employment opportunities for the graduate were discussed. Trends for the future coupled with attitudes of today's graduates provided interesting discussion. This year for the first time, secondary school and university students were invited to participate in workshops.

While the economists painted a rather gloomy picture of the market for graduates, many constructive ideas were put forth. Next year's conference will be held at Université Laval.

Members of the faculty and administration are invited to visit the Placement Office in Residence room 202 to discuss current and future employment opportunities for our graduates.

100 MODELS TO ATTEND

STARK CHOICE ON THE CAMPUS

From a recent issue of The Guardian.

'British universities are not factories. Only the ignorant would want to introduce conveyor-belt teaching into centres of learning. That this has occurred in some other countries should be a warning to some of the more extreme critics of British universities. But university staff and students, like the old, the sick, and the disabled, are not going to have as much money spent on them as the Government had hoped only two years ago. All social policy departments are having to cut back new programs with the country facing the worst economic crisis since the 1930s. Expenditure on higher education will still increase next year but not by as much as was at first hoped - a 1 per cent increase in real terms instead of 2.7 per cent. But at least in higher education the Government has been spelling out its alternatives so that those affected can air their preferences. Other social policy Ministers should follow Lord Crowther-Hunt's example. The Minister for Higher Education has had a bleak message to relay but by being frank and open - and still being ready to listen before he makes a decision - the Minister has made more friends than could be expected. To their credit the university vice-chancellors this time seem more ready to co-operate than when Mrs. Shirley Williams set out thirteen ways of expanding universities more cheaply in 1969.

The crux of the problem is that with an expected 50 per cent expansion in the number of higher education students by 1980 the Government is faced with stark alternatives: either the number of students will have to be reduced or standards will have to drop. Expenditure increases of only 1 per cent (and that could still be reduced further) cannot possibly provide facilities for an extra 180,000 students. The answer to this central dilemma is clear: it will be better to protect the numbers in the hope that although the standards of accommodation and facilities must drop, teaching standards will not. The target of 640,000 students by 1980 is the Department's estimate of the number of students who will both qualify and want to go on to higher education. This has already dropped, from an earlier figure of 750,000 as secondary school students have become more disillusioned with universities, and may drop even further before 1980. Although a smaller proportion of British people go on to university than do those in other European countries this can be misleading. There is much less difference, as Professor Ralf Dahrendorf pointed out this weekend, between the proportions who complete degrees.

From the details that Lord Crowther-Hunt has already given it is clear that the mathematics involved in cuts are complex. But rough rules of thumb can still be useful. To allow students to rough it is much preferable to cutting teaching standards. As a last resort teaching ratios may have to be reduced - in the United States and Europe they are much lower - but that must mean some loss in personal supervision. An alternative is some curtailment of research. Lower teaching ratios do not always mean lower teaching standards but they certainly do not improve standards.

MACKENZIE KING DIARIES

The Library has recently acquired a microfiche edition of The Mackenzie King Diaries, 1893-1931. These have been catalogued with Call Number M-FICHE FC 581 K5A3 1973, and are available for use at the Circulation Department.

The Diaries span a period of thirty-nine years, beginning in the autumn of 1893 when Mackenzie King entered the University of Toronto as an undergraduate, and continuing during his entry into the Civil Service, his election as leader of the Liberal Party in 1919 and subsequently as Prime Minister, the King-Byng Controversy, until his defeat in 1930 when the Conservatives were entrusted with the woes of the Depression.

The microfiche collection is divided into three portions: the manuscript diaries by Mr. King; a typewritten transcription of the hand-written diaries prepared subsequently; and various journal materials dictated by Mr. King and typed by his secretary.

The University of Toronto Press, the publisher of this microfiche edition, says: "This diary is an amazing combination of intimate personal details with the most careful and painstakingly accurate reporting of the events in which he had a part... Though in his public utterances he tried always to maintain a nineteenth-century decorum, he could and often did express his views, in private conversation and in his diary, without moderation and even with vehemence, and no one had a more acute consciousness of the frailties of others, or a greater readiness in private to point them out."

BROCK RECEIVES GRANT FOR COMMUNICATIONS SKILLS TESTING

The Ontario Universities Program for Instructional Development has approved a $3,000 grant for Brock to study the basic skills of incoming students.

In April Senate passed a motion approving in principle the testing of all incoming students to determine their level of competency in three basic areas: written communication, oral communication and reading ability. At the same time, the university applied for a grant to offset the cost of undertaking such a project. Receiving this grant will enable the university to go ahead with the testing.

A remedial course will be offered on a pilot-study basis for students who fail to meet the minimum standards of competence in English. A continuing study of the test instruments and the nature and effectiveness of the remedial course will be undertaken.

ALL CANDIDATES MEETING

The Brock University Faculty Association and students will present an open forum with three Brock riding representatives on Friday, September 12 at 12:00 noon in Thistle Theatre. The Honourable Robert Welch, Mr. Fred Lindall and Mrs. Margo Fife have agreed to participate.

The Ontario Confederation of University Faculty Associations recently issued a statement of concern regarding the universities of Ontario to the leaders of the three major political parties in the province in the belief that there is an urgent need to move the university question up the political agenda.

The Faculty Association of Brock has drafted and circulated a questionnaire to elicit the position of the eighteen Niagara Peninsula representatives on the topic of post-secondary education in Ontario. The responses of local representatives, to be received by September 8, will include a statement of their party's policy on post-secondary education as well as their own views. Copies of these political stands will be available for publication in the university press and in the local media.

BROCK POLLING STATION

There will be one or two polls at the university on election day September 18.

Students in residence can vote two ways: if they were enumerated in their home riding they can vote by proxy in that riding; or, they can have their names added to the university poll on September 8 or 9 during registration. Two special enumerators will be at the Physical Education Complex September 8 and 9 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. for this purpose.

Students who were enumerated in their home riding and who wish to vote at the university poll will have to complete an application on an Ontario Election Form #303. These are available in the Registrar's Office. The approximate 20 students who reside in residence year round were enumerated on August 20 to vote at the university poll.

Further information can be obtained from the Returning Officer for Brock riding, Mrs. Shirley O'Connor at 688-5661.

CHANGES IN THE LIBRARY

Several important changes have been made recently in the operation of the University Library. Library hours are slightly reduced, 150,000 volumes have been relocated, and all faculty and staff library users are requested to have their I.D. cards revalidated this month.

Library Hours Reduced to 92 1/2 Hours Weekly

The Senate Library Committee has approved a slight reduction in the opening hours of the University Library for the new academic year. Commencing Monday, September 8, 1975, Library hours were revised as follows:

Monday-Thursday	8:30 am-11:15 pm
Friday	8:30 am-10:00 pm
Saturday	9:00 am- 9:00 pm
Sunday	1:00 pm- 9:00 pm

The approval for the reduction, from 97.5 hours per week to 92.5 hours, was given following a study of exit statistics, covering the busiest months of the year, which indicated that few people used the Library after 11:00 p.m. Monday-Thursday or after 10:00 p.m. on Friday.

Staff economies effected by the reduction in hours will allow for additional staff to be on duty during the weekends which are becoming increasingly busy periods. Statistics of Library use will continue to be kept, in order that the Library Committee may make further reviews of opening hours during the year.

Library Borrowing and I.D. Cards

To maintain speed and efficiency in the signout procedure, it will be necessary to present a valid Brock I.D. card when borrowing library materials.

Because renewal of staff I.D. cards has been rather haphazard in the past, resulting in a confusing variety of cards and expiry dates, all faculty and staff are requested to have their I.D. cards revalidated this September. The renewal, involving the addition of a highly visible sticker to existing cards (if still in usable condition), takes just a few seconds. The process is brief should a new card be required.

The staff of the Instructional Media Centre will be available to revalidate I.D. cards Monday through Friday from 11:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. and 4:00 p.m. - 4:30 p.m. No appointment is necessary. Out-of-date I.D. cards will not be accepted by the University Library commencing Monday, September 22, 1975. Please assist the Library staff in providing more efficient service by using a valid I.D. card when borrowing library materials.

Location Changes

During the summer, the Library expanded onto the eighth floor of the Brock Tower, involving the Library staff in a rearrangement of some 150,000 volumes which was completed in just over two and a half days. The following is a general outline of new locations:

Floor 8: Books falling into the Library of Congress Classifications A to H, covering Philosophy, Psychology, History, Geography, Sports and Recreation, Economics, and Sociology.

Floor 7: Books falling into the J to P classifications covering Politics, Law, Education, Fine Arts and Language, and Literature.

Floor 6: Backruns of journals in the Humanities and Social Sciences still occupy the north side of this floor; the south side has become a temporary study hall. It is planned that this side of the floor will become a periodical reading room for the Humanities and Social Sciences; renovations will begin during the fall term.

No changes have been made to Floors 2 and 5 (Science), but renovations to Floor 2 will take place later in the 1975/76 academic year resulting in expanded areas to house the Reference and Documents Departments.

BRIEF NOTES

An article in German, entitled: Edith Stein and the project of an encyclical against racism and antisemitism, authored by Fr. J.H. Nota, appeared this spring in the Freiburger Rundbrief 26 (1974) 33 ff. Another of his articles was published in the April issue of the General Dutch Philosophical Ass. ANTVW 67 (1975) 77ff., entitled: Max Scheler Hundred Year (1874-1974), Radical Renewal and Balance.

On August 28 Professor M. J. Cardy, who is currently on sabbatical leave, read a paper entitled: "Crousaz and Hutcheson: Two Initiators of Aesthetic Ideas in the Early Eighteenth Century" at the 13th Congress of the Federation Internationale des Langues et Litteratures Modernes at the University of Sydney, Australia.

The name of Mrs. Rosalind D'Angelo, Assistant Professor in the department of Teacher Behaviour in the College of Education, should be added to the list of new faculty printed in the last issue of CAMPUS NEWS.

School enrolment in Canada will be on a "roller coaster ride" over the next 25 years, says a study by Statistics Canada. There will be a difference of more than 1,500,000 between the highest and lowest enrolment between now and the end of the century, the study says, as the "baby boom" postwar children produce a second-generation boom which then levels off.

The Canadian Association of University Teachers has reimposed its boycott on Simon Fraser University - the latest development in a six-year controversy over Simon Fraser's firing of seven faculty members.

The University of Guelph has announced a shorter work-week for its staff: 7 hours per day for most employees (8:30 to noon and 1:15 to 4:45 p.m.).

Queen's University is conducting a program of courses for interested staff members, including a "Certified Professional Secretary" series, and seminars for administrators in "Cost Reducation at Work".

McMaster University reports that the National Research Council has reduced by 2.5% all individual and group research operating grants for 1975/76. In the budget presentation of last June, the Federal Government announced a reduction in spending of one billion dollars, affecting all Government Departments and Agencies during the current fiscal period. The result of this action has been a reduction by $2.7 million to the NRC for its program of scholarships and grants in aid of university research, 3.3% from the original appropriation for these programs.

ART AND CRAFTS EXHIBIT

The St. Catharines Symphony Women's Committee is presenting an exhibit of art and crafts in the Pond Inlet Refectory on Friday, September 19, and Saturday, September 20, from 10:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.

There will be demonstrations of pottery, weaving, painting, sketching and carving by outstanding local artists and craftsmen, with at least two demonstrations taking place at any one time. Many of the craft items will be for sale.

The admission price is $.50.

1976 SHAW FESTIVAL

Three plays to be included in the 1976 season at Shaw Festival in Niagara-on-the-Lake will be Bernard Shaw's Arms and the Man, Mrs. Warren's Profession, and Sir James Matthew Barrie's The Admirable Crichton.

Arms and the Man was first produced by Shaw Festival in 1967. Mrs. Warren's Profession and the Admirable Crichton will be new to the Festival.

Additional information may be obtained from the Publicity Department at Box 774, Niagara-on-the-Lake, L0S 1J0.

EVERYONE WELCOME AT HOMECOMING '75

The first major event of the 1975/76 school year begins tomorrow, Friday, September 26. The sixth Homecoming officially begins at 8:00 p.m. with Registration for the many returning alumni.

Registration is one of the few (but important) formalities necessary when organizing a weekend of informal good times. Alumni, let us know you're here, and pick up the tickets you requested on your preregistration card. Then unwind with cocktails and conversation at the Social in the College of Education Lounge.

We're not the only people who will be celebrating this weekend - the regional Grape and Wine Festival will be in full swing. Start off your personal festivities by watching the Grape and Wine Festival parade Saturday morning, and watch for the float sponsored by the Alumni Association.

Motoring enthusiasts who want to prove their driving and directional prowess should compete in the Saturday road regatta. Rally round somebody's auto, and join the jalopies in a Car Rally. (You will also need a pen, ruler, and a wristwatch.)

If a squash game or a good workout is more your racket, the many Physical Education Complex facilities are at your disposal. Just bring your sneakers.

When was the last time you went to a real corn roast? Join in the fun at Pond Inlet as you enjoy the food at the old-fashioned get-together.

During the Fine Arts concert you will be entertained by some of the finest jazz artists in Canada. Guido Basso, Jimmy Dale, and Rob McConnell are just three of the gifted performers in the all star jazz group who will be filling Thistle Theatre with music. Before, during, and after the concert there will be a pub in the Pond Inlet Refectory in true Surgite style.

On Sunday you can have a little business with your brunch at the annual alumni business meeting. Sounds like a lot of good times, doesn't it? You'll never know how good unless you join the festivities.

Consult the Calendar of Events section for further information on scheduled activities.

BOB DAVIS REAPPOINTED
ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Professor Bob Davis has resumed the position of men's athletic director after a one-year interval. He replaces Les Korchuk who remains as head basketball coach, and who is taking on additional responsibilities in the academic program as well as resuming the position of director of intramural sports.

Prior to last year, Prof. Davis was athletic director from 1968-1974.

PLEASE PARDON OUR PAVING

In late August the university was advised of an additional grant of $85,000 from the Province for certain maintenance projects. This is the reason they are being done now rather than during the summer when they would have caused less inconvenience.

BROCK UNIVERSITY
WOMEN'S SOCIETY

The first meeting of the year will be held Thursday, October 9 at 8:00 p.m. on the 13th floor of the Tower.

Social evening: meet new members, make new acquaintances, sign up for interest groups. Refreshments will be served.

BRIEF NOTES

Swim tickets are now available from the Physical Education Office for recreational swimming at off-campus pools.

John Bird, the Assistant Registrar, Admissions, delivered a paper entitled "Secondary School Liaison in Ontario: its structure and relationships" to the Secondary School Liaison Workshop held at McMaster University on September 11 and 12.

Peter Bartram, Registrar, had an article entitled "Teaching about University Extension in Canada" published in the C.A.U.C.E. Bulletin, July 1975.

Professor Jack Miller, Chemistry, presented a paper on "Fragmentation and Rearrangement Processes in the Mass Spectra of Some Octafluorophospholes and metalloles" and chaired a session on "Synthesis of Organometallic Compounds containing Group V Elements" at the seventh International Conference on Organometallic Chemistry in Venice in August.

Professor Alun Hughes, Geography, delivered a paper entitled "The Nature and Classification of Cartographic Data" at the Annual Symposium of the British Cartographic Society held in Swansea from September 12 to 14. While in Britain Professor Hughes also attended the meetings of the International Cartographic Association Commission on Education.

McMaster University is coping with its financial crisis by cutting staff: 52 so far, and 10 more in another year or so, its newsletter Contact reports. Most of the reduction has been made by attrition (the University imposed a hiring freeze, then moved staff about to fill jobs which had to be filled). One entire department, Systems and Methods, was closed down. Despite all the cuts, McMaster expects a budget deficit of $738,000 in 1975/76.

Simon Fraser University, "in the belief that the process of learning never ends", is offering a credit course, "Introduction to Fiction", open only to students 65 or older.

A research project at Harvard and M.I.T. has shown that "the gap is closing" between university graduates' salaries and the salaries earned by people with no university education. Six years ago, male university graduates earned 53% more than male high school graduates; two years ago the gap had narrowed to 40%.

The Fine Arts Committee anticipates that this joint endeavour will become a yearly event.

INTER-UNIVERSITY
BORROWING PROJECT

Brock University is participating in the Inter-University Borrowing Project sponsored by the Ontario Universities' Library Cooperative System. It is designed to increase library resource sharing among the Ontario universities.

Participation in the project will allow Brock faculty, staff, and graduate students to borrow books directly from the libraries of other Ontario universities participating in the project subject to regulations set by OULCS and the lending library. The generally agreed loan period is two weeks; failure to return books on time, or failure to return books at all, will result in fines and sanctions which may include suspension of borrowing privileges in the Project and at Brock and, in the case of graduate students, the withholding of marks and diplomas until the debt is cleared.

Full details and a special OULCS Borrower's Card (valid for one term) may be obtained by personal application to Robert Rossini, Circulation Librarian at Brock.

It should be noted that the Inter-University Borrowing Project is not designed to replace the Interlibrary Loan Service but to complement it.

STUDY IN INDIA

Applications for research grants and fellowships in humanities and social sciences tenable in India are invited by the Shastri Institute.

Interested faculty are asked to contact Professor Victor M. Fic, Department of Politics, for further information and application forms. The deadline for submission of 1976 applications is November 1.

Professor C. C. Lamberg-Karlovsky will present a slide lecture entitled "Between the Indus and Euphrates Rivers" at the next meeting of the Niagara Peninsula Society of the Archaeological Institute of America being held Sunday, October 19 at 8:15 p.m. in Room 245Th.

Dr. Lamberg-Karlovsky is Curator of Near Eastern Archaeology, Peabody Museum of Archaeology, Harvard University. He is also Professor of Anthropology at Harvard University and a University Associate of Columbia University, New York. Field research has taken Dr. Lamberg-Karlovsky to excavations in Israel, Iran, Turkey and Afghanistan. He was Director of the Tepe Yahya Project in Iran. Dr. Lamberg-Karlovsky has authored many publications.

The public is invited to attend. Admission is $1.50. Members and students free.

BRIEF NOTES

In connection with the program on the German Expressionist Movement, offered jointly by the Rodman Hall Arts Centre and Brock University, Dr. Thomas J. McGary, Music Department, will speak on Expressionism in Music, Wednesday, October 22 at 8:00 p.m. at Rodman Hall, 109 St. Paul Crescent.

Membership in the Rodman Hall Arts Centre is open to the public at yearly fees of $7.00 for single memberships, and $9.00 for family memberships. Membership benefits include invitations to exhibits, lectures, recitals, concerts, and parties as well as receiving a bi-monthly bulletin on general activities. Contact Rodman Hall or Sylvia Osterbind (ext. 297).

The Ontario government has told St. Lawrence College to go ahead with preliminary drawings for an addition to its Brockville campus which would cost $2.4 million to build.

The director of alumni affairs at McMaster University, Dennis Carson, retired at the end of September with this parting word: "It used to be that alumni were relied on to bring in the extras - special equipment, art collections, whatever government funds didn't include. Thanks to budget cuts, the alumni are going to be looked to for the basic teaching equipment, rather than the luxuries."

Ken Feit, a "storyteller, puppeteer, and clown", was at Wilfrid Laurier University last week as "resident fool". He took part in various lectures and chapel services, and held a series of "happenings, pranks and delightments" around the campus. Dr. Ronald Grimes, of the religion and culture department at Wilfrid Laurier, said the clown "developed dimensions of folklore, drama, and the arts as they are related to ritual and myth". Feit, an ex-Jesuit, has studied Asian, North American (native), and African storytelling, and has taught courses in myth, ritual, death and masking.

FACULTY AND STAFF CLUB
STILL CLOSED

The executive of the Faculty and Staff club regrets any inconvenience created by its inability to open the club for hot luncheons as previously publicized. The executive anticipates that the club will be able to open its doors for luncheon service in the very near future and members can expect to be notified shortly.

VOCATIONAL SEMINAR

All students who are of native ancestry and who expect to graduate with a degree in 1976, are invited to attend a seminar at Laurentian University next February.

The seminar will include various resource people as well as members from the staffing branch of the Public Service Commission. The purpose of the seminar will be to discuss job opportunities that will be open for competition to native graduates.

Travelling and accommodation costs will be paid by the Ontario Metis and Non-Status Indian Association. Contact Mrs. Brenda Frost, Assistant Director, Education Department, OMNSIA, 5300 Yonge Street, Suite 208, Willowdale, Ontario.

BC STUDENT ENROLMENTS JUMP

Post-secondary institutions in B.C. show all the signs of bursting at the seams.

Most report increased enrolments this fall. Simon Fraser University expects to show one of the biggest percentage increases with a 15 per cent jump in full-time equivalent undergraduate enrolment.

The total Simon Fraser headcount of full-time and part-time undergraduates is 7,163. This total represents an equivalent of 5,863 full-time students - up 765 from last year's full-time equivalent total of 5,098.

The head count of graduate students at Simon Fraser is in the region of 1,000 but the full-time equivalent has not yet been determined.

There is an estimated six per cent increase at the University of British Columbia (from 22,035 to 23,500) and a 12 per cent jump (from 6,408 to 6,939) at the University of Victoria.

Figures from the province's community colleges are not yet final but most are indicating enrolment increases.

BROCK INVITATIONAL REGATTA RESULTS

Last Saturday over 40 crews competed at the Brock Rowing Invitational Regatta. Despite foul weather and false starts, the scheduling was quite successful with the last race finishing around 5:00 p.m.

The most exciting race of the day was the first-place finish by the Brock Junior Varsity men's rowing crew. After two false starts and considerable delays, the race was on. In a thrilling finish, the Brock crew edged past its competitors slowly but surely to nudge past McMaster.

Brock crews are now looking forward to the OUAA/OWIAA competition to be held on Saturday, November 1 commencing at 1:00 p.m. on the Royal Henley Course.

As part of the German Expressionist Movement joint program, Dr. Robert Taylor, History Department, will speak on "The German Revolution of 1918" on Wednesday, October 29 at 8:00 p.m. at Rodman Hall.

Potted chrysanthemums used for the Convocation ceremonies will be on sale immediately after the ceremony in the North Gym at $2.00 per pot.

ONTARIO'S PLACE

The following are Dr. Earp's comments to the Senate on October 15 on the Council of Ontario Universities' study of the level of Ontario's contributions to its university system in relation to the other nine Canadian provinces for the years 1971/72 to 1973/74.

"The results show that Ontario consistently funded on a per student basis at a rate below the national average and at a substantially lower rate than British Columbia and Alberta. The relative position of Ontario was sixth in the nation for each year under investigation, and the preliminary data for 1974/75 indicate a deteriorating position for Ontario, falling even further behind the national average and having a lower rank order position.

"Using the results of the study, Ontario would have had to contribute approximately $93 million more during the three year period in order to match the level of the national average, and the preliminary data for 1974/75 indicate that the gap between Ontario's per student contribution and that of the national average approximates $48 million for that year alone. The difference between the highest provincial contributors and Ontario is of enormous proportions with a gap of $493 million between British Columbia and Ontario for the four year period."

FAN MAIL

"On behalf of the membership and executive of the OMLTA I should like to express our appreciation for the exceptional hospitality of Brock University this past weekend. This conference was by general consensus one of our best ever and afforded approximately seven hundred teachers the opportunity of acquainting themselves with Brock's excellent facilities.

I should particularly like to emphasize our indebtedness to Professor Michael Cardy for his initial work as chairman of the planning committee and most especially to Professor Herbert Schutz who was almost single-handedly responsible for the ultimate success of the conference. His energy, resourcefulness and organizational skills won the unqualified esteem of everyone involved in the planning of the weekend's activities.

Once again, please accept our sincere appreciation for the warm hospitality of your university."

SHORTAGE OF SCIENTISTS

Marianne Ackerman of the Ottawa Journal reports that Canada faces a severe shortage of highly-trained scientists and engineers in the next decade if resource development projects go ahead as planned.

Dr. Frank Kelly, Science Council of Canada advisor said in an interview "literally thousands" of skilled technicians, qualified engineers and scientists not now included in labor projections will be required to meet manpower needs.

Ms. Ackerman says the irony is that hundreds of graduates in these fields, especially at the PhD level, now face unemployment, as openings in traditional jobs have not occurred as forecast.

The Council has said Canada will need 100 nuclear power plants by the end of the century. (There are now seven.) This massive undertaking, together with the Athabaska oil sands project, Mackenzie Valley pipeline, James Bay development, oil and gas prospecting, if carried out, will produce a shortage of trained manpower similar to that of the 1950s.

The total includes 910 first year students.

In upper years there are 1,141 students for a total of 2,295 full-time.

Full-time equivalents from summer (1975) and the current winter session are 218 and 253 respectively, for a total of 471.

The overall total includes 43 students enrolled in the native studies diploma program.

SCIENCE MINISTRY SHEDDING ADVISORY STATUS?

Frank Howard of the Ottawa Citizen reports that one of the consequences of the transfer last summer of Bud Drury from the presidency of Treasury Board to the Ministry of State for Science and Technology may be a downgrading of the ministry's watchdog role over government science programs.

"The ministry is undergoing a major reorganization which will enhance its role as a policy think-tank, but probably downgrade its previous role of assessor and evaluator of science and technology spending by other government departments.

"If this occurs, the ministry will probably no longer advise Treasury Board and government on the value of scientific programs. Treasury Board alone will do evaluation, as it does in other areas of government spending.

"Almost from its creation four years ago, the ministry was seen as a pushy upstart by Treasury Board and some scientifically-oriented departments and agencies, such as the National Research Council, Department of Energy, Mines and Resources, Department of Communications and Science Council of Canada."

JOHN NEWMAN EXHIBITION

The Fine Arts Committee presents a display of paintings, water-colors, and drawings by John Newman in the Thistle Theatre Lobby, November 3-28.

The Canadian artist is represented in public and private collections in Canada, the United States, and England. Currently teaching at the Ontario College of Art, John Newman saw his work included in the display 'Surrealism in Canadian Painting'. The list of previous exhibitions is impressive: New York City (Spectrum Gallery), Toronto (St. Michael's College, Mitchell Gallery, Roberts Gallery), London (University of Western Ontario), Hamilton, Edmonton, Brantford, and St. Catharines (Rodman Hall, 1969).

The subject matter of Newman's paintings is the transformation of the girl-child into a woman; his figures express the child's innocence as much as a dawning awareness of womanhood. Though representational in style, the work borders on surrealism, e.g. the Toy Duck has its source in a childlike version of the Leda-and-the swan myth. Newman sees the organic growth of human development in connection with nature; trees, plants, rocks, and rolling hills are executed in dynamic curvilinear form. This is balanced with a dreamlike stillness with which Newman's young girls look into the world.

The display is open Tuesdays through Saturdays, 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

BROCK UNIVERSITY
WOMEN'S SOCIETY

The program included guest speakers from Quebec and the U.S. as well as many local representatives who participated in plenary sessions, interest areas and special language sections. Among the latter more than twice as many teachers of German attended the section meetings than has been customary at previous conferences at other universities. The teachers in attendance, who for the most part had never before been to Brock, expressed pleasant surprise over the appearance of the campus, its special features and its compact facilities.

LE GROUPE DE LA PLACE ROYALE

Le Groupe de la Place Royale has the reputation of being one of Canada's most innovative dance troupes.

Under the co-direction of Peter Boneham and Jean-Pierre Perrault, Le Groupe has successfully blended the classical and modern disciplines of dance with the fields of music, cinema, painting and sculpture producing a total picture of the performing arts. Their outlook is one of adventure. They are explorers of the extreme variety that modern dance offers its audience.

Le Groupe's dancers and directors work together with seemingly ceaseless energy, constantly aware of the changing world around them. The result: a modern dance troupe which has earned the acclaim of audiences around the world.

OCUA MEETINGS ON SUPPLEMENTARY ASSISTANCE

Excerpts from a statement by President Alan Earp at the Board of Trustees meeting on November 11:

"The Ontario Council on University Affairs has been holding a series of formal meetings with universities receiving supplementary assistance, Lakehead, Laurentian, Trent, Carleton, York and Windsor, requiring them to justify their position in regard to compensatory grants.

In Brock's case the compensatory grant is a much smaller portion of our revenue and it is recognized that, given a comparatively small increase in enrolment, it will be phased out. Our problem is now not so much one of compensatory grants for uneconomic size as the general one of inadequate level of support to all Ontario universities.

I have the impression that Council is greatly concerned about this larger question and not very sympathetic to pleas for special consideration by some of our sister institutions. There were many complimentary remarks about Brock's efforts to achieve a balanced budget (I took the opportunity to emphasize that our need was for bread rather than bouquets).

There were questions about the cost of part-time studies, whether a university was disadvantaged if it did not have Commerce, whether science departments were fiscally a liability, and so forth.

A searching question, difficult to respond to without some study, related to how many additional students Brock could absorb at marginal cost. I think it likely that the capital freeze will continue and that there will be some effort to divert additional enrolments to those universities that can absorb them without added expenditures."

LE TRETEAU DE PARIS

The Fine Arts Committee will present Le Treteau de Paris in Racine's Phèdre November 27 at 8:30 p.m. in Thistle Theatre.

Over the years since Jean de Rigault organized the company in 1958, the troupe has brought works by Racine, Sartre, Cocteau, Anouilh, Beckett and Camus to the attention of American and Canadian audiences and racked up the estimable record of never repeating a production.

This year Le Treteau de Paris is bringing Racine's Phèdre to the audiences of America. Through Racine and his work in flux over which a religious and barbaric mystery rules, we find in Phèdre as in all Racine's plays the aspect of an atrocious and sacred theatre. According to Racine, "by the anathema which has been cast on the flesh, the Church has dramatized love".

EAST-WEST SYNTHESIS IN CONTEMPORARY MUSIC

The next Lunch Hour Concert scheduled for Tuesday, November 25 at 12:00 noon promises to be an event of unusual interest when the Maltese composer Charles Camilleri will present a lecture recital on the topic East-West Synthesis in Contemporary Music.

Camilleri born in 1931 "is a composer whose ideal is the breaking down of the barriers between East and West in the hope that the one may succour and enrich the other - the result being a musical language new and at the same time very old..." The folk tradition of Malta is an exceptionally rich one dating back to ancient times; including Greek and Roman, Saracens and Moors, and more recently French and British influences. Situated at a point in the Mediterranean where West and East intermingle, Malta is also the melting pot of African and European cultures.

Following the example of twentieth century composers such as Bártok, Kódaaly, Janacek and Vaughan Williams, Charles Camilleri seeks to integrate folk traditions with sophisticated western musical techniques. His art is the expression of a wish to "compose music that has no conflict, but which induces a spiritual involvement - both meditative and ritualistic. The listener may find in this music an experience of the convergent unity towards which mankind is ultimately moving".

Camilleri's works include Malta Suite, for orchestra; Mantra for piano solo; Maqam for piano and orchestra; Music for Meditation for violin and piano; Ragamats for piano and Missa Mundi for organ, based on five sections of Teilhard de Chardin's famous meditation La Messe sur le Monde.

HONORARY CANDIDATES

The Striking Committee of Senate is now soliciting nominations of persons to receive honorary degrees at Spring Convocation. Nominations and supporting documentation should be sent to Dr. Mary F. Richardson (Chemistry), Chairman, Striking Committee.

Please note that Senate must approve any candidate for an honorary degree. It is thus inappropriate (and potentially embarrassing) for an individual faculty member to make an approach to a candidate before Senate's approval.

BROCK DEBATERS TO COMPETE IN ENGLAND

A competition last Friday in Thistle Theatre determined which two of Brock's top debaters would win places on a 16-member Canadian team flying to London England next January for an international student debating competition.

Brad Milne, a first year student, and Andy Rady, a second year economics major led the field of seasoned debaters, all of whom had survived an elimination round two weeks ago.

The competition, to be held at the University of London, will involve teams from both sides of the Atlantic participating in four categories of public speaking. This will be the first annual tournament sponsored by the Transatlantic Universities Speech Association, of which Brock is a member.

BRIEF NOTES

Professor Scott F. Burns, Department of Natural Sciences of the American College of Switzerland, will visit the campus on November 24 and 25 as a guest of the Departments of Geological Sciences and Biological Sciences. He will give a presentation on The Living Environments of the Swiss Alps on Tuesday, November 25 at 4:30 p.m. in Room 204G. Everyone is welcome.

The Department of Classics is sponsoring an illustrated lecture by Professor J. Walter Graham of the Department of Art History at the University of Toronto on Wednesday, November 26 at 4:30 p.m. in Room 246Th. His topic is Cretan Palaces and their Problems. The lecture is open to the public.

A semi formal dance is being held in the Residence Cafeteria on Friday, December 5 commencing at 8:30 p.m. featuring live music and a full bar. Tickets are $5.00 per couple in advance from the Tuck Shop or the Porter's Office.

The Ontario Ministry of Education has set up a $750,000 fund to subsidize the development of Canadian school curriculum materials. The plan is to make grants for development of Canadian materials "especially in subject areas where the demand is too small to make normal commercial development attractive". A priority is French-language materials; other suggested areas are special education; English as a second language; multiculturalism; astronomy; and space.

ONTARIO MEDICAL SCHOOLS
APPLICATION SERVICE

The mail strike is causing concern among a large number of students applying for admission to the five Ontario medical schools. Applications are due at the Ontario Medical Schools Application Service by December 1, 1975.

Arrangements have been made for candidates to obtain or deposit application material at the Registrar's Office.

BROCK UNIVERSITY WOMEN'S SOCIETY

TRENT HOUSING SHORTAGE

Unless more housing is found for students, enrolment at Trent could be severely curtailed, according to a recently released report by the university housing officer. Married students turned down places at the university this year because they couldn't find accommodation for their families. At least 63 students who turned to the university housing placement service for help over the summer failed to enrol. There are at least 20 students who are currently "flopping with friends" and another 40-50 who are looking for more satisfactory housing.

LUNCH HOUR CONCERT

An additional Christmas concert is being offered by the Department of Music.

A program of Medieval and Renaissance Christmas music will be presented by the Brock University Collegium Musicum under the direction of Michael Purves-Smith with special guest artist Peter Giles, well-known English countertenor and lay reader of Canterbury Cathedral.

The concert will be held on Tuesday, December 9 at 12:00 noon in Thistle Theatre.

NATIONAL ARTS CENTRE ORCHESTRA

The orchestra of the National Arts Centre in Ottawa, conducted by Mario Bernardi, will perform at Brock on December 13.

The National Arts Centre Orchestra was formed in 1969. It has toured across Canada and abroad, and has received widespread critical acclaim.

The varied program for the Brock concert includes Mendelssohn's Fingal's Cave Overture; Tapestry, a new work by the Canadian composer Harry Freedman, commissioned by the NAC Orchestra, which applies contemporary techniques to themes of J.S. Bach; Haydn's Trumpet Concerto in E flat, with the Orchestra's principal trumpet, Douglas Sturdevant as soloist; and Beethoven's great Seventh Symphony in A major.

The concert, presented by the Fine Arts Committee, will begin at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Thistle Theatre box office, Tuesday through Saturday from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m.

HOLIDAY SHOP

The Rosalind Blauer Centre for Child Care will be holding its annual Holiday Shop on Sunday, December 7 from 2:00-6:00 p.m. The College of Education Gymnasium and day care classroom will be converted into a shop stocked with items handmade by the children's parents. For $1.00 per item, children may pick out gifts for their parents and have them gift-wrapped by volunteers. For adults, there will be a craft exhibit and a coffee room. The Holiday Shop affords children a unique opportunity to do holiday shopping without parental supervision. It is open to the public.

The Centre, which offers part or full-time day care for children between the ages of 2 and 5, now has some openings in both programs. For further information, call the Centre at 688-0832.

CHRISTMAS AND

Open at 9:00 a.m.
- December 31
Close at 1:00 p.m. until
- January 2
Open at 9:00 a.m. for regular yearly activities.

By closing the buildings to the public when the vast majority of students, faculty and staff are not present over the holidays, we have found that thefts and vandalism have decreased immeasurably on each occasion of closing in recent years. In order to save money on the security budget this year, special guards will not be placed at doors to allow persons entrance to the building during closed hour. You will have observed it will be necessary to telephone the guard in advance and present your Brock I.D. card when he meets you. It is hoped that all will bear with any minor inconveniences for the good of the university. Persons with entrance keys to any university building are reminded to check and ensure the door is locked securely behind them on entering or leaving the buildings.

CANCELLATION OF CLASSES

A decision to close the university because of weather is a difficult one, but a system of procedures have been ironed out should a bad storm hit the region.

If the University is to be closed because of a violent overnight storm, announcements will be made over all regional radio stations (CKTB, CHSC, CJRN, CHOW). If a storm during the day closes the university, evening classes would be notified by radio, and announcements would be posted on all the main entrances to the university buildings.

SPORTS LINE

A 24-hour telephone line that provides latest Brock sports scores and newsy upcoming events is now in service.

The telephone number, 684-0445, bypasses the switchboard, and callers are provided the latest sports news on a 60-second recording. The service is provided by the Office of Development and Information in co-operation with the School of Physical Education.

Tickets for the concert, which features Mario Bernardi conducting the forty-four member orchestra are available through the Thistle Theatre Box Office at 684-7541, 684-6818 or internally at ext. 366. Students and senior citizens $2.50, others $4.50.

CHEMISTRY GRAD MAKES GOOD (WINE)

A Canadian table wine made from the hybrid Foch grape at the Inniskillin winery near Queenston placed first in a recent tasting conducted by the Globe & Mail.

Inniskillin's winemaker is Austrian-born Karl Kaiser, a 1974 graduate in Biology and Chemistry at Brock. Mr. Kaiser is also a demonstrator in the Chemistry labs on the Glenridge campus.

As a result of the December 5 article which placed the Inniskillin Foch ($3.85) ahead of five other imports and domestics, local L.C.B.O. supplies were temporarily exhausted.

WALLET THEFTS

Two recent thefts of wallets indicates that more care should be taken to prevent similar incidents, warns Doug Roberts, Security Officer.

HEALTH SERVICES EMERGENCY PROCEDURES

The Health Services Office of the university functions primarily as a service to students. It is available to all staff members during normal working hours in case of emergency.

Inter-University Borrowing Project

All fifteen Ontario universities and the Ryerson Polytechnical Institute are now participants in the Inter-University Borrowing Project, sponsored by the Ontario Universities' Library Cooperative System, which is designed to increase library resource sharing in the province.

The project provides for faculty, graduate students and staff of participating institutions to borrow catalogued library materials personally from other participating institutions, subject to regulations set by OULCS and the lending library. The generally agreed loan period is two weeks and books may be returned to the library of either the lending or home institution; fines will be charged for late return.

Full details and a special OULCS Borrower's Card are available on personal application to Robert Rossini, Circulation Librarian at Brock. The borrower's card is valid for four months only; the next issue of cards will be valid from December 16, 1975 to April 15, 1976.

MEETS WITH MINISTER

On November 26, the OCUFA delegation headed by Cooper Langford met with Harry Parrott, Minister of Colleges and Universities to discuss various aspects of university funding as well as the composition of the Ontario Council on University Affairs

Related matters explored included the sweeping cuts proposed in the Special Program Review (Henderson Report) and implications of the federal anti-inflation "guidelines".

The discussion with Mr. Parrott did not indicate that the decision on funding for 1976/77, now expected before the middle of December, will afford relief from the pattern of financial constraint experienced since the beginning of the 1970s.

JOHNSTON XMAS '75

STATEMENT ON GOVERNMENT FUNDING

The government of Ontario announced on Monday that the total funds available for university grants in 1976/77 will be $651 million, a 14.4% increase over the current year.

President Earp commented on the announcement as follows:

"The sum available for the Ontario universities is as good as can be expected in present circumstances and suggests that the government now realizes that the universities have been tightening their belts for several years. It is a sign of the times that getting a little less than we need to stay where we are should be a matter for some satisfaction. We hope that for Brock this will mean a 12% increase in total revenue; however, we must await the advice of the Ontario Council on University Affairs regarding the grants to individual institutions."

On behalf of the Council of Ontario Universities, Dr. John B. Macdonald, Executive Director, issued the following statement:

"The universities are gratified to learn that their needs to maintain quality, offset inflationary costs and to accommodate enrolment increases have this year obtained significant acknowledgement by government. We are conscious of the concern of government to contain the rate of public spending. Since it is the stated intention of the Provincial Treasurer to limit the total growth in government spending to 10%, it is clear that the universities have been accorded high priority within the allocation process. We believe that this represents a recognition by government of the extent to which university revenues have been severely squeezed over the past several years. It is important to bear in mind that the purchasing value of a university dollar in 1971/72 had decreased by 1975/76 to about 83 cents. Some measure of relief in this trend is deeply appreciated by the universities.

Since government has stated that student fees will not increase in 1976/77, the increase in grants represents just under 13% in total revenue to the universities. Within this amount, the universities must accommodate enrolment increases, presently estimated at 5.4% in the current year. The increase in per student revenue of the universities therefore will be only in the order of 7%. The cost/revenue squeeze on the universities will continue to be marked, since inflation is still running well above the 8% guideline target. The pattern of budget cutbacks which has affected all aspects of university operations in recent years will thus have to be continued."

BRIEF NOTES

The Book Store will be closed from 12:00 noon on December 24 until January 5.

The last day of shuttle bus operations for this term is Friday, December 19. Service will resume on Monday, January 5, the first day of lectures.

P.O. Box 405 at Lewiston, New York, will be checked at least once a week for incoming mail. Our lease on the box expires in April of 1976.

The Fine Arts Committee has arranged for a display of Tibetan woodcuts, from the Extension Department of the Art Gallery of Ontario, to be on exhibition in the Thistle Theatre Lobby until December 22.

At the Art Gallery of Ontario, Dundas Street West, Brock's painting "St. Paul Street West" by John Boyle, acquired in 1971, is on display through February 1. It is part of the show of paintings owned by Ontario art galleries, universities and libraries entitled "Ontario Community Collects". The University of Toronto and York are also represented in the show, which will eventually go on tour throughout the province.

Books from the Reference Department's fine arts collection may be borrowed until January 9.

Copies of the brochure "Grants in Aid of Educational Research Program 1976/77" are available in the Office of Development and Information. Inquiries should be directed to the Secretary, Grants in Aid of Educational Research Program, Ministry of Education, Ontario, 17th Floor, Mowat Block, Queen's Park, Toronto, M7A 1L2.

LUNCH HOUR CONCERT

The Lunch Hour concert previously scheduled for Tuesday, January 6 has been changed to Monday, January 5.

The program will consist of Bach's masterpiece, The Musical Offering, in its entirety. Performers include Deryck Aird, Dr. Peggie Sampson, Vivian Minden, and Michael Purves-Smith performing on harpsichord, organ, flute, viola de gambas, English horn and Baroque strings.

BROCK COMMUNITY SHOW

The Fine Arts Committee will present the annual Brock Community Show from March 10 to April 10, 1976. Students, faculty and staff are invited to submit paintings, drawings, prints, and sculpture. Full details will be published in February. This advance notice should enable interested people to
